DEFENDANT'S STORY CALLED "MADE-UP"

Prosecutor Stresses "Marriage at Sea" Testimony—Death Penalty Not Asked for in Address.

By the Associated Press.
LOS ANGELES, Cal., March 15.— Arguments were continued today in the trial of Mrs. Madeline Obenchain charged with the murder of J. Belmont Kennedy, which is drawing to a close.

Alfred M. MacDonald, junior defense counsel, began placing the defendant's cause to the jury late yesterday.
He will be followed by Judd R. Rush, senior counsel for the defense, and Ama Keyes, Deputy District Attorney, is expected to make the final argument for the prosecution tomorrow.

Mrs. Obenchain cried softly when MacDonald addressed the jury yesterday, declaring the State's theory that she was "a woman scorned" had been disproved.

State Calls Mrs. Obenchain's Testimony "Made to Order."

One of the three women on the jury wept when MacDonald read a letter Kennedy wrote to Mrs. Obenchain, containing the appeal, "Love me always."

There probably never has been a case, MacDonald said, in which a lover's love and affection appeared more than the present trial.

"If it hadn't been for the efforts of Kennedy's parents to prevent it," declared MacDonald, "these two souls would have been married today."

When court convened Mrs. Obenchain looked more as she did during the first days of her trial. Apparently knowing that so far as her personal efforts were concerned, the trial was over, she came into court smiling. The tired woman looked she had worn since taking the witness stand in her own defense had vanished.

Resuming his argument, Deputy District Attorney Frick referred to Mrs. Obenchain's story as a "made-up statement" and asserted it was "made to order" and had been "planned." He told the jury that he "more than ordinary intellect" permitted her to have "an excuse for every bit of increasing evidence." He also argued that Mrs.
Obenchain, "like any person on trial for a murder as brutal and cruel as this, would not hesitate in having convenient lapses of memory."

"Petition Last Summer"

Mrs. Obenchain sent for Burch, Frick said, because she realized she was in "a peculiar position," having obtained a divorce and told friends of her love for Kennedy. The greatest thing in her mind, Frick declared, was to meet Burch at the train when he arrived here in July, 1931, and tell him her troubles with Kennedy. After Burch heard her story the greatest purpose he had, Frick said, was to watch every movement Kennedy made.

Referring to the telegram Mrs.
Obenchain sent Burch shortly before the latter's arrival here, in which Burch was asked to "bring the friend I had last summer," Frick said:

"What Burch brought with him was a shotgun. That's the friend of last summer."

Death Penalty Not Asked For.

Frick argued that the first shot fired that killed Kennedy, and called the jury's attention to testimony given at the trial by medical experts who stated that Kennedy's death was instantaneous.

"It was therefore impossible for Kennedy to have called 'good night,
Mazzy' after the first shot, as Mrs.
Obenchain told you he did," Frick told the jury. "But there was someone there to say 'good night, Mazzy' after the shot crashed into Kennedy as he lay there bleeding and dead. That was Arthur Burch.
It was he who called, and it was Burch's 'good night, Mazzy' that this defendant heard."

The jury was told that there was something in the relation existing between Kennedy and Mrs. Obenchain which she failed to reveal in her testimony, Frick said.

"Take the simple question asked by Mr. Keyes as to whether she had ever married Kennedy on the high seas. Before answering this the defendant sat on the witness stand for nearly a minute. There is something significant about that."

At no time did Frick ask that the jury inflict the death penalty.

FINDS WIFE DEAD FROM GAS

Mrs. Elsie Lang, 25, of 1151 Patton avenue, was found dead in a gas-filled room at her home at 4:30 p.
m. yesterday by her husband, Frederick Lang, when he returned from work. A rubber tube, one end of which was in her mouth, was attached to an open gas jet in the bathroom, adjoining the room in which she was lying on a couch.

Fire Swept Area in Chicago

The burned region is shown in black. The heavy line indicates the burned region which bounds the downtown business section known as "The Loop."

$10,000,000 FIRE RAZES BLOCK OF BUILDINGS IN CHICAGO

The Metropolitan West Side elevated line today was seriously handicapped in delivering thousands of persons to the downtown district, as was the Aurora & Elgin electric interurban line, which also used the four-track structure which was caught in the midst of the fire.

The huge Burlington office building, called a fireproof structure, held the fire from spreading westward, while progress of the flames toward the south was ended by the access the firemen had to the smaller buildings—two to six stories—which began south of Van Buren street. The Chicago River runs a block east of the burned district, but would have afforded little protection had the fire veered the sweep of the flames toward the main business section.
A vacant lot, the site for the new Union Station, kept the fire from spreading northward.

Salvage Corps Member Killed.

James McGovern of Insurance
Patrol No. 1 was the fireman killed.
He was caught by a falling wall and died at a hospital.

Lieut. William Everett of Engine Company No. 55 was injured, probably fatally, when he was struck by a falling piece of tile, knocked to the ground, and then hit by another piece of tile, which inflicted internal injuries.

Pipeman Alfred Samuelson of the same company also was hit by tile and injured.

The Burlington building withstood
a heat so terrific that the fire escape on the side facing the flames across the street became hot and bent of its own weight. The ornamental tile on the building crumbled in the heat and the hot blast breaking through the windows, destroyed the interior decorations in many rooms.

Heat from the burning buildings across the street cracked out the windows of the Mercantile Trust and Savings Bank before the Burlington Building itself was afire. A heavy police guard was thrown about the bank, but was driven away quickly when the building caught fire. Cash and securities valued at approximately $5,000,000 are said to be in the bank's vaults, and the bank announced they were amply protected.

The Burlington Building caught fire at about the eighth story and burned up and down. No stream of water was powerful enough to fight the fire in the upper stories.

Steel Pillars at White Heat.

So intense was the heat in the burning district that the steel supports of the elevated structure could be seen at white heat. Despite the calling out of extra policemen automobiles of spectators quickly jammed the streets about the burning district. The flames, leaping high and puffed by the gusts of wind, were visible for more than 20 miles.

The Van Buren street tunnel of the Chicago surface lines, under the Chicago River, leached just at the burned area and for hours a stream of water poured into the tunnel, filling it to street level.

The Union Depot Mall terminal was not reached by the flames, but postal employees hurriedly removed all mail means, as appeared that the fire district could not be restricted.

The block in which the fire had its inception was covered over with two to eight-story buildings. An alley traversed the center of the block from east to west, and down that ran the elevated lines.

Shortly after 1 a. m. a fire company responded to an alarm at West Monroe and South Canal streets and established a small fire. A few minutes later another alarm was rung in,
at first thought to have been a recall to the same fire. Firemen responding to that call found the 11-story Austin Building enveloped in flames. A "4-11" alarm immediately was sent in, and in rapid succession eight additional calls for special apparatus were rung, taking virtually every piece of fire-fighting apparatus in Chicago to the scene. Only widely scattered companies were left in the suburbs.

STRONGHOLD OF 'REBELS' IN SOUTH AFRICA TAKEN

Sniping Continues When British Forces Enter Fords-burg, Although Only Women and Children Are Found.

ARTILLERY, TANKS AND AIRPLANES USED

Women Carrying White Flags Shield Some Insurgents and Children Aid Others in Escaping.

By the Associated Press.
JOHANNESBURG, March 15.—
With allsorts of the disaffected area in South Africa cleared of "rebels" except certain portions of the Johannesburg, or central region of the Rand, the struggle apparently has entered its final phase. Japanese notices dropped from the airplane, in the east end of Johannesburg, seems to be the principal remaining center of resistance.

Artillery, tanks and airplanes were used in the capture of Fords-burg from the revolutionists. They disregarded notices dropped from the airplane, giving them until 11 o'clock in the morning to surrender, but capitulated after 75 minutes of bombardment.

Although the houses in Fords-burg had been deserted by the men, only women and children being found when the Government forces entered, sniping at the Government troops continued. One of the snipers, apparently a woman, was shot, but when the body was recovered it was found to be that of a man in woman's clothing. Women carrying white flags, sheltered some of the rebels, according to military reports, while groups of children surrounded other rebels to facilitate their escape.

Dunsford Taken Sunday.

Transvaal Scottish forces took Dunsford on Sunday by a frontal attack with the bayonet. Every house on the main street of Dunsford, captured last week, was fortified and barricades had been placed in the streets.

As the hour for evicting the rebels from Fordsburg approached the entire center of Johannesburg became a scene of extraordinary activity.
Motor cars were used in large numbers by the troops, and a whippet tank was also dispatched to the scene of operations. Artillery rumbled through the main streets taking up positions.

The bombardment for the first quarter of an hour was mostly carried out by the Brixton guns; then the guns from the townside opened up a raking fire on the Fordsburg market square, and the Burglers gradually crept up, meeting the circle of advancing troops. The quiet, steady advance of the infantry secured the main streets and enabled the motor cars to dash in, continuously bringing fresh troops.

Impression of Observers.

"A sort of nightmare," sums up the impression of observers of the battle. Everywhere khaki-clad soldiers were mingling with the blue uniforms of police. Machine guns and ambulances were seen everywhere and shells and bullets were whistling over the heads of the spectators.

While the battle was at its height
there was a counter demonstration on the other side of Johannesburg, at Jeppe, where an armored train dealt with hostile parties.

Prisoners from Fordsburg are streaming in.

20,000 PERSONS SEE PAGEANT IN PINK AT PEACH BLOSSOM FESTIVAL

By the Associated Press.
FT. VALLEY, Ga., March 15.—
The PEACH BLOSSOM festival, which is expected to be repeated annually hereafter, Fort Valley, the center of Georgia's peach belt, held a peach blossom festival here yesterday that was attended by 20,000 persons.

The peach belt was covered with a scarf of delicate pink yesterday morning when Gov.
Hardwick and his party, riding in more than 100 automobiles, made a trip of inspection.

The climax of the program was reached in the afternoon with a pageant and masque symbolical of the opening of the season and the appearance of the first peach blossoms.

The King and Queen held their court with a background of peach blossoms, with young women forming the court and representing the sun goddess and goddesses of the orchard. In song and story they interpreted the occasion and for the climax a young woman emerged in flowing white and pink raiment from the midst of a sea of pink blossoms.

CASE OF HOGAN TO GO TO JURY BEFORE NIGHT

most of the afternoon of testimony,
but started forward with surprise when a witness answered to a call for William L. Hogan's name. Hogan's attention was marked as Losenmann testified.

March 1, Losenmann, who lives at 638 Laite avenue, St. Louis, notified the police that he had been threatened with death if he testified against Hogan and then he disappeared. He was located by the Circuit Attorney's office and his coming to court constituted another surprise.

Losenmann proceeded to identify Hogan as the man he had seen at the time Pillow was waylaid, wrestling as he testified, with a man whose head was covered with a coat. Losen-mann had stopped his cake delivery wagon at Jefferson and Washington streets to get some cigarettes. Hogan stood up for Losenmann to look at him.

Saw Man Drop Satchel.

Losenmann said that the man whom Hogan wrestled with dropped a satchel which he had seen in his assaults then in a waiting automobile and then the man was put in the machine, which Losenmann thought was a Buick.

Losenmann told a Post-Dispatch reporter that he had not left St. Louis because he was threatened but would not say where he went. Detectives are guarding him here.

Special Officers Harry Powell, James Mitchell and Gus Mier of the St. Louis Police Department, testified to going to Compton avenue and Adams street shortly after the attack on Pillow, where they found a Buick automobile with a broken wheel resulting from collision with a street car.

They went across the Compton avenue viaduct and pursued three men down an alley. Two of the men escaped, but the third was captured in a yard. He was Hogan. A reporter in the neighborhood found the satchel and stood guard over it with a shotgun.

Mildred Parker was the negress who guarded the satchel. Horace Hayden was the negro chauffeur of the Buick truck and was expected to testify Hogan was in the Buick.
When they failed to appear as witnesses, attachments were issued for them. Circuit Attorney Sidener said they were afraid to testify.

Steve McLeod of 1104 S. Ruiger street, St. Louis, testified that two men ran through his house during the chase and threw a revolver under a buffet. The State is relying to show that the revolver was one taken from Pillow. Pillow's widow, Mrs. Annie Mayberry, who married again, testified that he was dead.

Pillow was murdered May 9, 1931,
the crime being regarded by prosecuting officials as a deliberate attempt to defeat justice.

Bigamist Now Says He Is Sure He Has Only 13 Wives

In the Daily Bakery, in Roosevelt avenue, where he worked at two months. While at work at the bakery he suffered a nervous breakdown and was removed to the Deaconess Hospital, he said, where he was attended by Dr. O. W. Ridgeway.

After leaving the hospital Moore obtained a position with the Federal Bakery System and remained in Indianapolis until the latter part of November. While in Indianapolis, Moore, roomed at 217 East North street, he said, and attended the Central Christian Church, where he became a member of the choir and also became acquainted with several members of the congregation. He said he sang bass or baritone and took an active part in various church affairs.

Moore left Indianapolis the latter part of November and went to Indianapolis and registered at the Indianapolis Hotel. While there he sang at church meetings, he said, and there met Miss Evans, who was obtaining subscriptions for a masquerade party. He proposed marriage after a few days and on Nov. 29 they went to Vincennes and were married, Moore using the name of Melrose.

They remained at Vincennes until Dec. 1 when they came to Indianapolis and registered at the Hotel
Edward as Mr. and Mrs. George Melrose of Chicago. Detectives say that while Moore and his wife were staying at the Hotel Edward, Moore also engaged a room at the Clayton Hotel, the employer added.

The employer said that Moore had told him that he had never recovered from the shock he experienced when his sister was accidentally killed several years before in an automobile accident in New York City.
Moore was represented as saying that the incident had completely shattered his nervous system.

Nebraska Woman Says Moore

OMAHA, Neb., March 15.—Isabel Moore, under arrest in Indianapolis from his eleventh wife, who under the name of "J. H. Vaughn," married Miss Florence Johnson of David City, April 3, 1930, was described by Miss Johnson as a "Beau Brum-met" and a "divorced man."

Miss Johnson said that she had been married to Moore for three years and that she had been in Indianapolis for four months before she met him at church.

"He sang in the Congregational choir, and as I attended the First Christian Church, he often attended the choir, and I met him at the our Christian Endeavor meetings," she was quoted as saying over the long distance telephone. "He took an active part in all church doings."

Miss Johnson asked that she be pardoned for laughing when told her former husband was under arrest for embezzlement.

"That seems to have been a popular stunt with him," she said. "He stung my mother and me for $700."

"He told me," Miss Johnson continued, "I was his first love. He said he once proposed to a girl down South; that she did not accept him and he later realized he did not really love her as he did me."

Slain Showman, His Daughter, and Home in Which Shooting Occurred

"Honest John" Brunen, his daughter, and house showing window through which he was shot.

George Baptiste, former wrestler, who is president of the Baptist Tent and Awning Co. in defending his wife's divorce suit yesterday, asserted that whatever wrestling he brought into play in their home was only to prevent her exercising her boxing proclivities.

Mrs. Baptiste, proceeding her husband on the stand, declared that the last five years of their married life has been a wrestling bout, with her husband the aggressor.

Baptiste testified his wife underwent violent spells of anger about three times a week and frequently, as she advanced threateningly toward him, it became necessary for him to put her into a chair and hold her there until she had cooled.

Most of their difficulties, Baptiste said, centered about his wife's aversion for his father, stepmother and sister. He first became aware of this, he said, in 1916, when his wife invited his family to their home for Easter dinner.

When his wife saw his relatives approaching, he said, she dispatched him for cream. When he returned by way of the back door, he said, his wife was chasing him with a broom.

Clippings on Divorce.

"There," he quoted her as saying, "That is the opportunity I have been waiting for."

Thereafter, Baptiste testified, he rehearsed her opinion of his family at breakfast, lunch and dinner.

Another of her breakfast customs, he said, was to place newspaper clippings relating to divorce, particularly alimony divorces, under his plate.

Frequently, he said, she pasted these clippings on the mirror of his dressing table. He said he frequently explained to her that he was not interested in divorce.

Studied Oratory.

Baptiste related that his wife, at an Indianapolis convention of tent and awning makers, was elected chairman of the women's auxiliary and made a speech.

He said he told her she apparently had no native talent for oratory, whereupon she began to buy books on elocution and parliamentary procedure.

Thereafter, he said, on their return home, he became necessary to cook many of his own meals.

During the last two years, he said, he had been the stay-at-home, while his wife went out at night frequently.

Mrs. Baptiste is asking for alimony and has testified that her husband's assets total about $200,000.

He testified his salary with the awning company is $15 a week and that his chief revenue is from dividends.

which at this time are not totaling more than $2000. He said a bank balance of $21,000 in one recent year dwindled to $140.

'NOTHING TO IT,' SAYS MATZENAUER, LAUGHING

'Child's Story,' She Declares, in Discussing Report Chauffeur-Husband Has Run Away.
By the Associated Press.
JOPLIN, Mo., March 15.—For a woman who just had been informed that her husband had "deserted her," Margaret Matzenauer, famous opera singer, was in a delightful, light-hearted mood when seen by newspaper men at her suite in a local hotel last night. She was shown press dispatches from San Francisco containing an interview credited to her husband, in which he said he was no hothouse plant. That brought hearty laughter from her.
"There is absolutely nothing to the statement from San Francisco," she said, between ripples of laughter. "My husband is in Monterey business. When he left New York he kissed me good-bye and I bade him Godspeed. There was no escaping to it."
No Breakfast in Bed.
Her attention was called to that part of an interview in which her husband referred to taking his breakfast in bed.
"Why, can you imagine a big, six-foot perfect specimen of manhood taking his breakfast in bed? He had never had breakfast in bed in his life. Not that kind of a man, and if he ever asked for such a thing I would chase him out of the house."
"Somebody has played a joke on a reporter; that's all. No man would express himself as Mr. Glotzbach is credited with expressing himself in the interview. It sounds more like a three-year-old child."
"How about squirming in mental anguish on the rear seat cushions?" she was asked.
"Never since we have been married have we been on that. We bought him a high-priced car with an inside drive, because he stated that he could drive himself, and he has had that wish gratified every time we go out. We never get in the other car, which is driven by our chauffeur and used mainly to take my little girl to school."
She Feels Complimented.
A San Francisco dispatch said her husband asserted that orchids will thrive in hothouses, but wild mustard seeds need the California sun.
"I guess that means that I am an orchid," the singer laughed, "and I feel quite complimented. In regard to my husband getting tired of the mad scene from 'Lucia,' I never sang that in my life, for it is a high coloratura part."
"When I married Mr. Glotzbach," Mrs. Matzenauer continued, "I said that artists should not marry artists, and so far I have never had reason to vary from that statement."
"My husband is not one that you could call a singer, though he enjoys music, and if he hasn't changed in the last two weeks he is still the 100 per cent man I said he was when I married him."

He would go to Henrietta tomorrow and perfect plans toward taking up the docket in that division of his court, probably Monday. He added that his work would go on as though the incidents of the past few weeks had never happened.
His return to the bench this morning was in contrast to his last appearance in Okmulgee. His action in dismissing the grand jury precipitated a storm of protest in the courtroom, and after he had departed without making known his destination, a mass meeting adopted resolutions demanding that he resign.
Today, however, there was exhibited only a mild amount of interest when he reached his office and word was spread through the courthouse that he had returned to the bench. He received a number of visitors in his chambers.

TITLED ENGLISH WOMAN, HIT BY BURGLAR, DIES

Lady Alice White Succumbs to Blow on Head Inflicted by Man in Hotel Room.

LONDON, March 15.—Lady Alice White, who was found unconscious in her room in a London hotel, yesterday morning, died this morning at 9 o'clock. A burglar is believed to have inflicted the fatal injury, a fracture of the skull.

Late editions of the morning newspapers say that Lady White regained her faculties for a brief period last night. She asserted that a burglar entered her room through a window and struck her.

A woman occupying a room adjoining that of Lady White said she heard a scream after Lady White retired Monday evening, but she did not know whether it came from the hotel or the street. The assumption is that Lady White shouted for help, whereupon the intruder struck her on the head and escaped.

Lady White was the widow of Sir Edward White, who was chairman of the London County Council.

SERGEANT REDUCED FOR USING OIL STATION AS READING ROOM

Patrolman Must Pay 15 Hours Extra Duty for Spending 25 Minutes at Movies.

Sgt. Thomas P. Whelan of the Magnolia avenue district was reduced to patrolman yesterday by the Board of Police Commissioners after testimony by Capt. Wade Matthews that he had found Sgt. Whelan sitting in an oil filling station at Grand avenue and De Tonty street, on March 7, reading a newspaper at an hour when he should have been patrolling his district. Whelan, upon hearing the verdict, handed in his shield.

Patrolman Thomas Walsh was dismissed on a charge of unbecoming conduct after Mrs. Ella Timmerman of 1407 Cockrell street had testified that, on March 6, Walsh struck her in the face when she rebuked him for not arresting men who were intoxicated in a saloon at 1471 Holmden avenue. She said she found Walsh in the saloon when she entered to look for her husband.

Patrolman Roger J. Hart of the Mounted District was reduced to prison guard on a charge of intoxication. Patrolman Harry C. Pickel of the Page boulevard district was given 15 hours extra duty upon his admission that he had spent 25 minutes in the Pageant Theater on March 4.

PAROLED YOUTH STEALS AUTO

Attracted by the sight of a machine in which there were no lights being driven slowly south on Grand avenue near Shaw avenue, three motorcycle policemen halted the car and found John Jones, 16 years old, an inmate of the House of Detention, at the wheel. John told the officers he had stolen the car while he was out on parole looking for work, and that he had intended to park it on some quiet street last night and sleep in it. The machine belonged to Marta Zukeske, 4126 Osceola street.

John, the police ascertained, was spending his nights at the House of Detention and during the day worked out at various jobs, earning money with which to pay back $41. He was returned to the House of Detention.

HEARINGS IN DEVELOPMENT OF COLORADO RIVER OPEN

Secretary Hoover on Way to Phoenix to Participate in Discussion of Comprehensive Plans.

By the Associated Press.
PHOENIX, Ariz., March 15.—Discussion of plans for comprehensive development of the Colorado River, described as one of the greatest projects contemplated since the building of the Panama Canal, began here today, when the Colorado River Commission opened in Phoenix the first of a series of hearings to be held on the Colorado River basin.

Secretary of Commerce Herbert Hoover, chairman of the commission, was due to arrive here today. The purpose of the hearings in Phoenix, which are expected to close Friday, as explained by W. S. Norvell, Arizona Water Commissioner and representative of this State on the River Commission, is to determine the rights of the several states to the waters of the Colorado and to reach an agreement or compact for the adjudication of such rights. The commission's task, he said, is to determine and settle these rights in a manner agreeable to all states.

TOURISTS VISIT ORIGINAL ISLAND OF ROBINSON CRUSOE

Correspondence of the Associated Press.

VALPARAISO, Chile, Feb. 10.—The rescue from an island in the south Pacific of Alexander Selkirk, the British mariner, around whom Daniel Defoe is said to have woven the tale of Robinson Crusoe, was vividly pictured to several hundred tourists, including prominent British and American residents of Valparaiso, on their arrival recently at Juan Fernandez—the original Crusoe Island—250 miles off the Chilean coast.

Two natives of Juan Fernandez, one representing Crusoe and the other his man Friday, clothed in the traditional goat skin and wearing long beards, pushed off from shore on a raft after they had sighted the "rescue" ship. A parrot and a goat were their only passengers and, as in Defoe's story, the raft was laden with fish, fruits and other island products.

Boarding the vessel the "marooned" pair were received with all honors by the captain to whom "Crusoe" presented his offerings. The passengers then took up a collection for poor children on the island.

The tourists spent three days at the Juan Fernandez island group, visiting the wild country of high mountain peaks and luxuriant vegetation. They saw the monument erected by British seamen to the memory of Selkirk, the original Robinson Crusoe, and visited the lookout from which he is said to have sighted, nearly two centuries ago, the vessel that finally rescued him after four long years of solitude.

FEES OF $8500 ARE ALLOWED LAWYERS IN SANITY TRIAL

Frumberg & Russell, Representing Frederick Van Blarcom, Whose Sanity Was Recognized, to Receive $6000.

Legal fees amounting to $8500 were allowed today, by Probate Judge Holtcamp, in the case of Frederick Van Blarcom, who last week won his contest for legal freedom and recognition of his sanity.

The law firm of Frumberg & Russell, and Randolph Laughlin, who represented Van Blarcom in his suit for release from his guardianship, will receive jointly $6000. Former Judge George H. Williams, counsel for the St. Louis Union Trust Co., which resisted Van Blarcom's proceeding, will receive $2500. This, like the other fee, will be paid out of the Van Blarcom trust estate, as it is held that the trust company was under a legal obligation to appear in the suit, being then Van Blarcom's guardian. The fees were agreed upon at a conference of counsel.

BROKER AT SECRET INQUIRY

New York Baseball Magnate Quizzed Regarding $4,000,000 Failure.

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, March 15.—Charles A. Stoneham, baseball magnate and stock broker, underwent a secret examination at the Bar Association, Feb. 22, in connection with the $4,000,000 failure of E. D. Dier & Co., stock brokers, Arthur G. Haynes Jr., counsel for the receiver, announced yesterday.

The statement was in answer to creditors of the firm who have been seeking to learn what connection Stoneham had with the defunct house. He recently made a contribution of $200,000 to the general pool of $750,000, which the receiver is asking for the benefit of creditors. "This was made, the receiver stated, in good faith and without strings."

FREAR ANSWERS LETTER OF MELLON ON BONUS

Declares Sales Tax Would Shift Income Burden of Wealthy to the Consumers.

By the Associated Press. WASHINGTON, March 15.—Representative Frear of Wisconsin, a Republican member of the Ways and Means Committee, has written Secretary Mellon "replying" to the letter of the Treasury head to Chairman Ford in which Mellon declared a soldier bonus bill, if enacted, would involve a "dangerous abuse of Government credit."

Frear in his letter to Secretary Mellon, predicts that the revised bill "will pass the House five to one," and subsequently would be approved by the Senate. Adoption of a sales tax, he contends, would "eventually shift $1,000,000,000 or more in income taxes now paid by the wealth of the country onto the shoulders of the consumers of the land."

Cites Previous Objections. "You have objected before the committee," Frear wrote, "to any inheritance or gift taxes, or the revenue of the sales tax."

You have suggested taxes to which we finally tentatively agreed, only to be informed that the President, whom you frequently see, would veto a bill if accompanied by such taxes.

"You objected before the committee to paying the bonus by treasury certificates as authorized by law, and as the Treasury did when paying $3,000,000,000 of canceled war contracts—to which we were advised you never objected."

"The recent bill to stabilize railway securities, appropriating $500,000,000, passed by the House, was with the approval of your department. You have objected before the committee to paying any soldier bonus out of foreign debts which the soldiers helped to save for us."

"In fact, many icicles of sympathy and freezing advice are handed out that are in harmony with the last protest against 'frozen credits.' These hypocritical credits would probably never reach 1 per cent of all the loans by the banks and trust companies combined. Nor will they freeze soldiers half as much as the cold reception accorded them in many quarters. The figures you present are not admitted to be correct either in fact or effect."

After declaring that enactment of a sales tax would eventually shift income taxes paid by the wealthy "to the consumers of the land," Frear wrote:

Quotes the Income Tax. "For illustration, Mr. Secretary, Henry K. Klein, page 155 in his recent work rates your wealth at $200,000,000. Assuming for illustration that one-tenth of that amount is nearer right, then your annual income tax paid to the treasury is probably over a million dollars and this amount is believed to be approximately the income tax paid by two publishers of Washington papers which carry frequent sales tax editorials—one in this morning's issue."

Frear declares Treasury records are said to show that millionaires who remained at home during the war doubled in number and that fortunes were made by many thousands of others, adding that more than 500,000 former service men were reported to be without jobs.

HOOPER'S 'MEATLESS' DAYS HURT INDUSTRY, CATTLE MEN DECLARE

Warlike Statement on Food Value of Meat Assailed as Factor in Depression in Industry.

By the Associated Press. FORT WORTH, Tex., March 15.—An attack upon Herbert Hoover, Secretary of Commerce, for alleged statements during the war, that the food value of meat was negligible, and for the proclaiming of "meatless days," was made at the opening session here yesterday of the Texas and Southwestern Cattle Raisers' Association by W. W. Turney of El Paso, Tex., association president.

Turney declared that that had done more to bring about economic injury to the cattle raising industry than any other thing during the war and added that the association is taking steps to conduct an educational campaign urging the eating of meat and pointing out the value of cattle products.

Turney also urged that the cattle raisers adopt a set policy for the industry and advocated a protective tariff, which, he said, would place the industry on an equal basis of foreign marketing.

The report of the Executive Committee, read at the opening session, reviewed the work of the association the last year and spoke in glowing terms of the benefits derived by cattle men from the War Finance Corporation.

Several thousand stock men from Texas, Oklahoma, Kansas, New Mexico and Arizona are attending the sessions.

BROKERAGE FIRM HEADS PLAN TO LIQUIDATE DEFUNCT CONCERN

By the Associated Press. NEW YORK, March 15.—John Burke, former Treasurer of the United States and L. M. Kardos, his partner in the stock brokerage firm which recently went into voluntary receivership, left last night for Chicago to discuss with creditors plans for liquidation and reorganization of the defunct firm.

Meetings with creditors will follow at Pittsburgh, March 17; Baltimore and Philadelphia, March 18, and Boston, March 20. The first meeting, at Chicago, will be held Thursday.

Liabilities approximating $1,452,000 were announced yesterday by Robert P. Stephenson, receiver for Kardos & Burke. Arthur L. Ross, who accompanied the two partners, $1,508,300, a figure declared to be as attorney, said assets would total highly speculative by Stephenson.

UNIVERSITY CITY MAN
ROBBED OF AUTO AND $40

M. J. Mosher Forced to Drive into County by Man Hidden in Tonneau of Car.

Max J. Mosher of 1040 Kingsbury boulevard, University City, was robbed of his Cole touring car and $40 in cash last midnight by an armed man who forced him to drive from his home about five miles over St. Louis County roads to the Price and Ladue roads.

Mosher was about to drive his business partner, George P. Sheehan, and his wife to their home at 3954 Cates avenue. As Mrs. Sheehan approached the tonneau she saw a man crouched there and screamed. The man rose up and pointing a revolver, ordered Mr. and Mrs. Sheehan into the car. Mrs. Sheehan ran back into the Mosher home and her husband ducked around the front of the car. The armed man then ordered Mosher, who was already at the wheel, to drive away.

He designated a circuitous route to the Price and Ladue roads, where he searched Mosher, taking his pocketbook and a pair of cuff links. "You'll find a quarter in your coat pocket," he told Mosher, "and you can look for the car on South Grand avenue about Cherokee street tomorrow afternoon."

Mosher walked to Busch's Grove and later was driven to his home by a Deputy Sheriff. The "quarter" left by the robber proved to be a nickel.

CIVIC NEEDS COUNCIL ADOPTS PLAN OF ACTION

John G. Lonsdale Declines to Serve as Chairman of Body of 200.

John G. Lonsdale, president of the National Bank of Commerce, yester- day declined to serve as chairman of the committee of 200 appointed to consider civic needs in St. Louis, stat- ing business engagements made prior to the organization of the committee as his reason.

The committee yesterday formally adopted the designation of "General Council on Civic Needs." It also ac- cepted a plan of organization recom- mended by a subcommittee, which provides for four vice-chairmen rep- resenting four districts into which the city was divided for the purpose. A chairman of a finance committee also is to be elected. A treasurer, ex- ecutive secretary and publicity man- ager will be appointed.

A nominating committee will pro- ceed at once to nomination of the various officers, it being specified that the nominee for chairman shall be consulted as to his willingness to accept before report of his nomina- tion is made.

The fourth and closing civic needs luncheon given by the Chamber of Commerce will be held at Hotel Stat- ler tomorrow at noon. Presidents of various district improvement asso- ciations will state their conception of the needs of St. Louis.

ARREST OF WOMAN AND 2 SONS SAID TO SOLVE 8 BURGLARIES

By The Associated Press. NEW ORLEANS, March 15.—In the arrest of Mrs. Alma Dupke and her two sons, James Briley, 21 years old, and Walter Briley, 19, police today announced the solution of at least eight robberies in the upper residential section of this city and the recovery of silverware valued at $4000. Most of the silverware was found in three antique shops in Royal and Chartres streets.

According to the police, James Briley has confessed entering eight homes and, after taking the silver- ware, to have turned it over to his mother and younger brother for dis- posal.

RUB RHEUMATISM PAIN FROM SORE, ACHING JOINTS

What is rheumatism? Pain only. St. Jacobs Oil will stop any pain, so quit dragging.

Not one case in fifty requires inter- nal treatment. Rub soothing, pen- etrating St. Jacobs Oil directly upon the tender spot and relief comes in- stantly. St. Jacobs Oil is a harmless rheumatism and sciatic pain, which never disappoints and cannot burn the skin.

Linger up! Quit complaining! Get a small trial bottle from your drug- gist, and in just a moment you'll be free from rheumatic and sciatic pain, soreness, stiffness and swelling. Don't suffer! Relief awaits you. Old, hea- sest St. Jacobs Oil has cured millions of rheumatism sufferers in the last half century, and is just as good for sciatica, neuritis, lumbago, back- ache, sprains and swellings.

Don't Spoil Your Child's Hair By Washing It

When you wash your child's hair be careful what you use. Most soaps and prepared shampoos contain too much alkali, which is very injurious, as it dries the scalp and makes the hair brittle.

The best thing to use is Mulsified coconut oil shampoo, for this is pure and entirely greaseless. It's very cheap and beats anything else all to pieces.

Two or three teaspoonsful of Mulsified in a cup or glass with a little warm water is all that is required. Simply moisten the hair with water, and rub it in. It makes an abundance of rich, creamy lather, cleanses thor- oughly, and rinses out easily. The hair dries quickly and evenly, and is soft, fresh looking, bright, fluffy, wavy and easy to handle. Besides, it loosens and takes out every particle of dust, dirt and dandruff. You can get Mulsified at any drug store, and a few ounces will last everyone in the family for months. Be sure your druggist gives you Mulsified.

During 1931, the POST-DISPATCH printed 23,411 MUSICAL "Wants"— 9991 more than the THREE other St. Louis newspapers COMBINED.

MRS. OWEN PEEL ACQUITTED IN RACE BET FRAUD CASE

London Judge Upholds Old Doctrine Husband's Presence at Crime Convinces Woman.

(Copyright, 1932.)

LONDON, March 11.—Because of an ancient English legal fiction that a wife who commits a crime in her husband's presence does so under "coercion," Mrs. Owen Peel was acquitted yesterday at the Old Bailey. She was charged with aiding her husband to place telegraphic bets on a race after they knew the winner, and with dating the telegrams back. Capt. Peel himself, who pleaded guilty several days ago, was sentenced to seven years' imprisonment in the second division, a category that allows him certain privileges. Justice Darling, in charging the jury to acquit Mrs. Peel, upheld the contention of her counsel that the law itself holds. He granted that under the law Mrs. Peel was "coerced" by her husband, his physical presence at the time being sufficient evidence of the coercion, but he added: "It is absurd to suppose a woman nowadays dare not contradict her husband, but I am bound to apply the old doctrine of coercion under the law."

ST. LOUIS RAILWAY MAIL MEN TO RESUME PISTOL PRACTICE

Clerks Are to Be Sent to Jefferson Barracks Range in Groups of Fifty.

The 450 railway mail clerks working out of St. Louis will resume pistol practice under the direction of army officers at Jefferson Barracks next Monday.

They were armed with automatics a year ago, following a series of mail robberies on trains, and received lessons in shooting at targets at the Jefferson Barracks range last June and November. The men will be sent to the Barracks in groups of 50 and will undergo training until they have qualified in the regulation army pistol course, which is expected to take at least two weeks.

Marines were detailed to guard the mails and postoffices in all parts of the country last November, but it was announced at that time they would be withdrawn and replaced by civilian guards as soon as such an organization could be perfected. The training of mail clerks to shoot, however, will not interfere with the Postoffice Department's plan to have additional armed men on mail trains.

SUIT AGAINST PACKING HOUSE TO GO TO TRIAL NEXT MONDAY

Sieloff Company in Answer to Complaint of Resident, Denies Its Plant Is Nuisance.

Testimony will be heard next Monday before Circuit Judge Hall in the suit of residents of the neighborhood of Natural Bridge and Newstead avenues, to enjoin the Sieloff Packing Co. from operating its plant at 4301 Natural Bridge. The suit, in which the residents allege that the plant is a nuisance and to cause damage to surrounding property.

The packing company filed an answer yesterday, stating that the plant has been at its present location many years and that it is equipped with modern and sanitary machinery and appliances. It denies that the industry has caused other property in the locality to depreciate, but says that neighboring property has increased in value.

The plaintiff in the suit is Louis F. Rahe, 4325 Natural Bridge avenue, but it is understood that he has the support of other residents of the locality. Rahe, who is the hardware business, alleges that he has suffered loss on account of the packing plant.

FEDERAL COMPLAINT AGAINST ST. LOUIS STOCKYARDS BUYERS

Order Issued for Hearing on April 6 to Explain Increase in Commission Charge.

WASHINGTON, March 11.—A complaint alleging that an apparently unjustifiable increase had been made in the commission charge for buying hogs on Eastern markets was issued yesterday by Secretary Wallace against the 82 order buyers constituting the St. Louis National Stockyards.

The complaint issued under the Packers and Stockyards act, which that the association, on Feb. 2, adopted a schedule fixing the commission charge at $19 a car, whether single or double deck, compared with the old rate of $12 for single deck and $8 for double deck cars.

A hearing, when the order buyers will be required to show cause why this increase should not be held unreasonable, was set for April 6, in the Exchange Building, National Stockyards, Ill.

There is one simple, safe and sure way that never fails to get rid of blackheads and that is to use this cream. To do this, get two ounces of salicylic powder from any drug store—sprinkle a little on a hot, wet sponge—rub over the blackheads in circles—wash the face and you will be surprised how the blackheads have disappeared. Big blackheads, little blackheads, no matter where they are, simply dissolve and disappear, leaving the pores without any more trouble. Blackheads are simply a mixture of dirt and dirt and secretions from the pores of the face. The water simply dissolves the blackheads so they wash right out, leaving the pores free and clean and in their natural condition. PERSHING AROUSED BY PLAN TO CUT ARMY TO 115,000

General Declares Whole National Defense Project of 1920 Will Be Endangered.

WASHINGTON, March 15.—House Appropriation Committee proposals to cut the regular army to 115,000 enlisted men and 11,000 officers, aroused Gen. Pershing yesterday to a renewed declaration that the whole national defense project put through in 1920 would be imperiled if the slash recommended was made by Congress. Success of that "sound military policy and system of national defense," he said, in a statement to the Associated Press, depended upon adequate provisions for the military establishment.

"The fiber of the regular army has been thoroughly tested," Gen. Pershing said, "by the strains placed upon it not only in time of war, but in time of peace, when it has had to withstand the onslaughts made upon it in the name of economy or pacifism."

"It appears now, due to the demands for economy in our national expenditures, another critical hour for the army and the national defense is at hand."

Referring to "the frequent slashes" in army strength made by Congress since the war, Gen. Pershing said "a vacillating course" with respect to army personnel discouraged competent men from entering the service and lowered morale and efficiency within the army until it was "difficult if not impossible to use to advantage the services of even the best of such personnel."

"But whatever Congress may see fit to grant," the Chief of Staff added, "the army will, as it always has, apply itself to giving the nation as much national defense as it can. It will not quit, no matter how badly crippled."

"It does ask, however, not through self interest, but in the interests of the country, that its missions, its personnel and its means of accomplishing the missions, be given some permanency and that it be permitted, through continuity of effort, to give the country a full return for its expenditures for national defense."

MOTOR TRUCKS FORCE TRACTION EXPRESS COMPANY TO GIVE UP

Interstate Concern Plans Reorganization as Automobile Freighters to Meet Competition.

Competition by motor trucks has driven the Interstate Express Co., which for nearly 20 years has been hauling express profitably on East Side interurban electric lines, to the refusal of further shipments and an effort at reorganization as a truck company to fight fire with fire.

The company has been operating on the lines of the East St. Louis & Suburban and the Alton, Granite & St. Louis electric lines, giving the electric company 40 per cent of gross revenues. At a meeting of stockholders in Belleville Friday a report showed that the revenues had shrunk so greatly that it was determined to ask for a receiver and refusal of shipments was begun yesterday.

The truck competition is not organized but is conducted by individual operators whose rates are so much lower than the express company's that they have won the bulk of the business. The express company is compelled to handle St. Louis shipments four times—once at St. Louis, once at East St. Louis, by car to destination and delivery after arrival at destination. The motor truck, once loaded, is unloaded at the consignee's door.

The express company is capitalized at $50,000, most of the stock being held in Belleville.

STILL FOUND IN OPERATION

A still in operation, three barrels of rye mash, two gallons of so-called "moonshine" and some empty sacks were found at 1435 North Twentieth street yesterday when policemen stopped three men they saw coming out of the yard there, one of them carrying a key in his hand. The key fitted the premises and admitted the police. The men claimed to have visited a friend there, but no one was found at home.

Police searching the home of Frank Brown, 4411 Vista avenue, in his absence yesterday, reported finding three cases of what they call homemade beer in the basement and 14 bottles of the same kind of liquid on a back porch. Brown was arrested when he came home later. Joseph Biundo, grocer, 1016 North Sixth street, was arrested after a policeman reported buying a drink of whiskey.

TESTIFIES PRIEST
ADVISED BROTHER
TO INSURE LIFEWitness' Statement in Trial of Father Delorme of Montreal, Accused of Murdering Youth.PISTOL OWNED BY DEFENDANT SHOWNWeapon Is of Same Caliber as Bullets Found in Head of Dead Young Man at Autopsy.Special to the Post-Dispatch.
MONTREAL, Quebec, March 15.—At the trial of the Rev. J. A. Delorme, charged with the murder of his half-brother, Raoul, before Judge Cusson yesterday, Theophile Sarotte, attorney of the Saurage Life Insurance Co., told of Father Delorme bringing Raoul to take out a $25,000 life insurance policy. The priest told the witness that, as a wealthy young man, his brother should be taught to save. The best way to do that would be to obligate him to take out a life insurance policy. Father Delorme had telephoned on the morning of Dec. 24, asking for an appointment.

They went up on that day and the boy arranged for the policy. The question of the beneficiaries to the insurance was raised at the meeting and witness had counseled Raoul to make it payable to the boy's heirs. This was done and the policy was issued. This was on Dec. 31. Witness brought it in person to Father Delorme on the same afternoon.

Notary Belanger, with whom the will of Raoul was deposited, then followed on the stand. Father Delorme had sent the will to his office some days after the boy's death. Witness then read the will, which provided among legacies to his sister and his brother, now accused of the murder, that 1000 masses should be said for Raoul's soul in the event of his death.

Father Delorme was named chief beneficiary and sole executor. Signature Is Identified.
Rev. Father Rheume, O. M. I. of Ottawa College, who was a witness to the will of Raoul Delorme, was then called to testify as to the authenticity of his signature on the will. He examined the signature and declared it to be authentic. He told of having been asked by Raoul in February, 1932, to come to a hospital in which he was confined, awaiting an operation for appendicitis, to witness the boy's will.

Father Rheume continued that when he reached the hospital he found Father Delorme there in the room. As far as witness could recall, the will on exhibit was the original one which he witnessed. Detective George LaRoie, whose investigations led to the arrest of Father Delorme, then told his story. He had gone to the home of Father Delorme to investigate. The priest had told him that he owned a pistol which he had always carried in his car. It was of 25 caliber. The witness produced the weapon.

The cartridges which fitted the weapon were the same as those found in a box in the priest's car. Furthermore, the bullets found in the head of the murdered boy, corresponded in detail to some which had been fired from the priest's weapon by the witness—that is, the spent bullets have similar marks from the rifling in the barrel when fired.

The detective had found two pairs of rubbers in the Delorme home. These were the property of the murdered boy. He then produced a smoking pipe. He had found it in a valise at the priest's home. Then the detective produced a letter sent by Father Delorme to his brother. A copy which was found on Cote St. Michael and said to have been owned by Raoul Delorme and worn by him on the night he was slain, was shown. Witness then produced a number of chicken feathers. They had been taken from Father Delorme's car and corresponded to feathers found on one of the cloths which had wrapped the slain boy's head.

The detective then exhibited a blood stained automobile seat and some cushions. These had been taken from the priest's car. The cushions, when analyzed by Dr. Derome, the Provincial pathologist, had given proof of the existence of these stains. Then, followed the production of a bed quilt which bore grease stains analogous to those found on the two cloths with which the victim's head had been wrapped. Furthermore, the peculiar design of sewing used in making the quilt and another like it, both of which had been taken from the Delorme home, bore a similarity to the peculiar sewing on the cloths which had wrapped the boy's head. The outer covering of the quilt was of the same material as the blood-stained cloth. These latter appeared to be sections of a quilt. The threads used in both exhibits were the same. One side of the quilt and one side of the bloody cloth was red and the other white. The bed quilts were taken from Lily Delorme's bedroom in the Delorme home.

Two towels found in Raoul's room were shown. They appeared to have been washed recently and bore traces

Older Than You Should?Many Folks Are Older at 40 Than Others Are at 60. All Too Often Sick Kidneys Are to Blame.

ARE you one of those unfortunate folks who find yourself feeling older and slower than you should? Do you get up mornings feeling lame and stiff; drag around day after day with a constantly aching back? Evening find you utterly worn out—fit only for bed? Do you wonder why you are beginning to feel so old—why you find it so impossible to be happy and to get from life the fun you used to have?

Then you should give some attention to your kidneys! Present day life, with its hurry and worry is mighty hard on the kidneys. The kidneys weaken, uric poisons fill the blood and upset the whole system. That's why so many folks feel years older than they really are. And all too often the true cause is overlooked until the trouble becomes chronic.

Don't neglect these early symptoms! Realize that it's just this condition that leads to hardened arteries, rheumatism, gravel, dropsy and Bright's disease. Use Doan's Kidney Pills and give your weakened kidneys the help they need. Doan's have helped thousands and should help you. Ask your neighbor!

"Use Doan's," Say These St. Louis Folks:

PHILIP WOLFE, 2211 S. Jefferson Ave., says: "I had kidney disorder. My back stiffened up making it almost impossible to bend and there was a constant severe pain across the small of my back which seemed to hold me down. I used Doan's Kidney Pills and have always found them to give me good relief. I was a street car motorman for 14 years and know that is what brought on my trouble. For the past two years my trouble has been permanent, so I believe I am cured."

MRS. J. HALL, 4119 Ober Ave., says: "I caught cold and it settled in my kidneys and they became disordered. My back was lame so I could hardly bend and when I did it was difficult for me to straighten again. I also had dizzy headaches. A member of my family had also used Doan's Kidney Pills with good results and I started to take them. Doan's soon rid me of the trouble and I have not been bothered since." pimples and boils are caused by errors of dietFleischmann's fresh yeast corrects

the cause

A well-known skin specialist says that pimples are "signal flags of danger" often indicating errors in diet.

Indeed pimples are so frequently associated with faulty habits of eating and improper digestion that the first thing to do is to see that our food is right.

Fresh yeast is a wonderful corrective food for these skin disorders. Fleischmann's Yeast is rich in the elements which improve appetite and digestion and which keep the intestines clean of poisons.

Physicians and hospitals all over the country are recommending Fleischmann's fresh yeast for pimples and boils. It gets right at the basic cause of these complaints.

Eat 2 to 3 cakes of Fleischmann's fresh yeast daily before or between meals to keep your skin healthy. Place a standing order with your grocer.

$16,000 WILL FIGHT MAY BE BEGUN FOR DOG AND TWO PUPS

Indirect Heirs of Elderly Widow Accused of Withholding Will Making Unusual Bequest.

By the Associated Press.
CHICAGO, March 15.—Two mongrel puppies and their mother are scampering around a back yard, unmindful that they may be heirs to $16,000 and that they are the central figures in a legal battle which has all the requisites of a movie thriller—the death of an elderly woman without direct heirs, two wills, one of them missing and the other said to be illegal, a contest by relatives and a counter contest on the part of the dogs by a young attorney who drew up the missing will.

Mrs. Sadie Howard, who died several days ago, is the benefactress whose will, or wills, have caused the contest. Harry Leemon, her attorney, announced today that he had drawn up her will some time ago and that it left the income from a $16,000 building to the dogs.

Other Bequests Made.
Relatives received a few small bequests and the balance of the estate, estimated at about $25,000, was to go to a children's home at Little Rock, Ark.

A few days later, Leemon said, a relative drew up another will for Mrs. Howard, made himself the chief beneficiary and cut out the bequests to the dogs and to the home.

Mrs. Howard, according to Leemon, later declared she did not want that will to stand, that she had cut her signature off it and that it was illegal, because it was not witnessed according to law. She told Leemon, he said, that the will he had drawn up should stand.

Accusation of Dogs' Lawyer.
Leemon says the relative now has the original will, naming the dogs and the home as beneficiaries and that he refuses to give it up.

"I have a copy of it, however," said Leemon, "and I will go into Probate Court with this copy, demand an order on the relative for the original of the will and ask that I be made administrator of the estate."

of peculiar stains. These stains had been made by blood, according to the analysis.

Dr. Derrone, who performed the autopsy on the murdered youth's body, was the first witness called yesterday. He repeated his evidence given at the coroner's inquiry that he had found traces of eight bullet wounds in the victim's head. Of the wounds, one at least was the outlet to a bullet which had gone clear through the head. He found two bullets in the head. One of them was in the lower jaw and the other rearward in the head.

Investigator Puse of the morgue then followed. He had been summoned by Chief of Police Belanger to proceed to Snowden avenue and remove a body to the morgue on the morning of Jan. 7. Arriving at his destination, he found the frozen body of a man. The hands had been tied together with a piece of string, and were about seven or eight inches apart. An overcoat wrapped the victim's head. Under this was a first cloth, then a second cloth. The body was then brought to the morgue. When there the victim's clothes were searched, nothing was found in disorder. Witness had noticed that the murdered boy had worn no rubbers, although it was a cold winter day. He then identified the blood-stained cloth and some pieces of blood-stained string which had bound the youth's head.

The trial was then continued until next Tuesday.

Armstrong's Linoleum for Every Floor in the House

This floor doesn't mind being stepped on

THE Chicago office of the Quaker Oats Company is a busy place, and the floor in that office gets a pretty severe test. But this floor, though several years old, looks fresh and new every morning. It is Armstrong's Linoleum.

It's a quiet floor, firm, but elastic to the tread. The cleaners have a pretty easy time with it. It wipes up so readily.

The cost of maintaining a floor of Armstrong's Linoleum is about the lowest upkeep a building floor can have. Expensive refinishing is never necessary, and hard heels leave no mark upon its smooth, restful surface.

A quiet floor goes a long way toward making a quiet office. If you want such a floor for your office or building, consult your architect, contractor, or any good linoleum merchant. Ask about having the linoleum cemented down over a layer of builders' deadening felt. This is really the best way to lay a permanent linoleum floor, as repeated tests both in actual service and in our research work have proved.

We will furnish any merchant or contractor with data and specifications for laying by this method.

Office floors of linoleum are not expensive. Armstrong's Linoleum is guaranteed to give satisfaction.

CONNORS ORDERED TO RESUME
POST OF RELIEF SECRETARY

Patrolman Lohrum, Elected to Office on Connors's Resignation, Is Still on Job.

The Police Relief Association has two secretaries. Patrolman Matthew A. Connors, who resigned the position Monday, after he had been transferred to a beat as the result of a controversy over a contract to print the association's entertainment program, was ordered today by Chief O'Brien to resume the duties of secretary. Patrolman William C. Lohrum, who was elected to succeed Connors as secretary, is still on the job.

The Chief's order followed a meeting of the Police Board yesterday afternoon, at which the application of the Executive Committee of the Police Relief Association for reconsideration of the transfer of Connors, made before Connors resigned the secretaryship, was discussed. The Executive Committee will straighten out the matter out at its next meeting, April 5, when Connors will withdraw his resignation and Lohrum's election will be set aside.

MISSISSIPPI TO RISE
17 FEET IN FIVE DAYS

Not Expected to Reach Stage of Inundation Except in Lowest Places.

The Mississippi, Missouri and Illinois rivers rose rapidly yesterday and last night from the discharge into them of flood waters from smaller streams, following the heavy rainfall of the night before, and the rise will continue the rest of this week, but is not expected to reach the stage of inundation except in the lowest places.

The Mississippi at St. Louis rose 6.3 feet in the 24 hours ending at 7 a. m. and will rise 7 feet more in the next 24 hours and will reach its crest Sunday at 29 feet, one foot below the flood stage and a total rise of 17 feet in five days. It will rise until that time all the way from Louisiana to Cape Girardeau. The stage at St. Louis at 7 a. m. was 18.6 feet.

The Missouri rose eight feet at St. Charles in 24 hours and will continue to rise below Lexington the remainder of the week. Below the mouth of the Osage stages close to bankful will be reached and in very low places there will be overflow. The Illinois will continue to rise gradually and will be somewhat above bankful at and below LaSalle. The Meramec below Moneville will rise for two days, but overflow will be confined to the lowest places. The Osage will rise to moderate flood stages from Osageola to the mouth. The Grand will reach a flood stage of 18 feet at Chillicothe and nine feet at Brunswick.

Some damage has been done by small Missouri and Illinois streams which were out of their banks yesterday, but are falling rapidly now. A washout on the Missouri, Kansas & Texas Railroad near McBaine, Mo., necessitated detouring trains yesterday and last night. It was expected that the damage would be repaired by this afternoon.

Flood Stage of Mississippi at Memphis by Monday.

MEMPHIS, Tenn., March 11.—Flood stage in the Mississippi River at Memphis by Sunday or Monday was predicted by J. H. Scott, United States weather forecaster here, in a warning issued early today. Flood stage at this point is 33 feet.

FORMER POSTMASTER SELPH
GUEST OF FRIENDS AT BANQUET

Speakers Praise Him "Best Postmaster St. Louis Ever Had" and Praise Him "For Enemies He Made." Colin M. Selph, who recently retired from the office of Postmaster, which he held more than eight years, was guest of honor last night at a dinner, attended by nearly 200 of his friends at Hotel Statler. Speakers proclaimed him "the best Postmaster St. Louis ever had" and he was eulogized for "the enemies he has made."

Hugh K. Wagner was chairman of the committee which arranged the dinner and introduced the toastmaster, Isaac A. Hedges. The speakers and their subjects were: Jackson Johnson, "Our Recent Postmaster," William Sacks, "Some Postal History," Lee Meriwether, "Selph, the Man," Charles F. Hatfield, "The Spirit of the Times," and former Judge Shepard Barclay, "The Joy of Public Service." Selph concluded the program with a speech of appreciation and introduced his successor, Louis Alt, to his friends.

Selph, commenting upon the criticism to which he was subjected during much of his term of office, said he probably would have avoided it if he "had played politics," and had not run the postoffice "as if he owned it." He said, however, that he sought as advisers efficient employees he found in the service, and removed employees he found inefficient. He added he had forgotten everything except the pleasures of his public service.

NEED OF FOUR MORE SCHOOLS POINTED OUT BY CITIZENS' BODY

Committee Urges Vote for Continuation of Present Tax Rate at March 28 Election.

The imperative need of two additional high schools and two more elementary schools to accommodate more than 7000 children now without adequate educational facilities is pointed out by the Citizens' School Tax Committee, which is urging the continuation of the present school tax rate of 85 cents on the $100 valuation, to be voted on March 28. "We are tremendously overcrowded in the high schools," said John C. Tobin, president of the Board of Education. "High schools built to accommodate 9000 children have an attendance of 13,000. In the Yeatman High School district 75 per cent of the children are compelled to attend other high schools because of the lack of facilities in their own district."

There will be a mass meeting of the Ames School Patrons' Association at the Ames School kindergarten, Fourteenth and Hebert streets, tomorrow evening to arrange for a playground for the Ames School children.

THE POST-DISPATCH PLATFORM

I know that my retirement will make no difference in its cardinal principles, that it will always fight for progress and reform, never tolerate injustice or corruption, always oppose privileged classes and public plunderers, never back sympathy with the poor, always remain devoted to the public welfare, never to be satisfied with merely printing news, always be drastically independent; never be afraid to attack wrong, whether by predatory plutocracy or predatory poverty.

Industrial Alcohol.

The Editor of the Post-Dispatch:
THE recent ruling against the Fleischmann company about industrial alcohol prompts the writer to a word of protest, not because of any personal interest in that company, because he has none, but because of the destructive attitude of the "drys" in this country.

The importance of industrial alcohol cannot be overestimated, and sooner or later the prohibition forces will cut off their own necks by persecution against it. There is no doubt, I believe, that it was the corner stone which caused prohibition in this country, and to extend it to industrial alcohol is like prohibiting the coinage of money because gamblers use it. The "drys" advertise their weak argument by the assertion that they support the mentioned company can let the alcohol evaporate if they produce it. Such absurd waste is repugnant to every citizen of these United States who has seen its resources dissipated in one way or another. We all know that coal and oil from which we derive most of the energy which drives our industrial wheels, are but temporary propositions and need to be conserved. The way to do it, at least one way, and the way future generations will derive much energy, is by conserving plant material which cannot be used for human consumption into industrial alcohol. As such the latter can be used for motor vehicles in place of gasoline, as it is partially used in Cuba at the present time, and it is a fact that industrial wheels far away from water power.

There is another argument, too, showing the absurdity of the rulings against industrial alcohol. It is used, as its name implies, very widely in the arts, sciences, trades and chemical industries, and every curtailment of its production means increased cost to all of these, and with it increased difficulty in competing with foreign nations.

The final argument against this alcohol prohibition is that it gives a knowledge to the preparedness. It is utter foolishness to support an army and a navy and at the same time take away the tools with which they can save the country if need be. If a war should break out at the present time, it is not out of the question that we would not have enough alcohol to run it. To manufacture one pound of smokeless powder, one-half pound of ethyl alcohol is necessary. To make a pound of poison gas the same amount of alcohol must be used. Prohibition forces have already succeeded in limiting our alcohol production capacity to less than half of that before the war. Remember what happened in 1914. We like to think it can't happen again, but evidently the French and other European peoples do not think so, because they are armed to the teeth. The chemical plants of Germany almost won the war and would have done so if France and England had deliberately killed off their means of retaliation, as we are now killing ours.

Call an Extra Session.

The Editor of the Post-Dispatch:
CAN the Automobile Club of Missouri, through its legal counsel, throw some light upon the construction of section 30 of the act governing motor vehicles, page 144, Laws of Missouri 1921. Extra Session, which is as follows:

Sec. 30. Unconstitutionality of any part of the bill shall not affect remaining portions of act—If any section, subsection, sentence, clause or phrase of this act is for any reason held to be unconstitutional, such decision shall not affect the validity of the remaining portions of this act. The Legislature hereby declares that it would have passed this act irrespective of the fact that any one or more sections, subsections, sentences, clauses or phrases are declared unconstitutional.

The act appears to have been approved by the Governor and to have become a law on July 30, 1921. I am particularly interested in the construction that should be placed upon said sentence of the section as above quoted.

JAMES A. RECTOR.

Wisdom of 19.

The Editor of the Post-Dispatch:
I WAS coming down on the car and overheard the conversation of two elderly women sitting in the seat ahead of me. Reluctantly did they assert the faults of the modern young man and maid. Then they reassured them. Girls, they said, were so much older than their parents, and what a pity it was. "Pity your necktie!" The sooner they grew up the younger they are when their common sense has a chance to assert itself, the more of their lives have they left to accomplish something worth while. But that's not all that was said.

Children, you know, should be brought up to obey. Obedience all the time. Rats! Disobedience means progress. Just suppose no one ever disobeyed. Why Ed, that would mean that many, many of the successful people in life people who have found their occupation and glory in doing whatever it requires, people who do things, would be doing something else entirely, and failing at it, all because papa took it into his head to map out the future for them.

A MODERN WOMAN OF 19.

IRRECONCILABLE LOGIC.

Senator Hiram Johnson of California is violently opposed to the four-Power treaty, though he believes firmly, he says, in "consultations and conferences among the nations of the earth." He insists, however, that no treaties or leagues or alliances of any sort are necessary to bring about such conferences. When a difference arises that requires a consultation or conference the nations will merely have to practice "openness and frankness and the sunlight of publicity will do the rest."

Hiram Johnson's attitude, like that of several other Senators, is extraordinary. They can see the most dangerous dragons in any written agreement among the nations—but have the utmost confidence in the ability of the nations to get along amicably if they do not sign any written pledge to that effect. And Johnson and those other Senators have lived through July, 1914, and seen what the world has paid because there was no written agreement among the nations of Europe to meet in the event of a misunderstanding and try to settle it like rational human beings.

The Johnsons, Borahs, Reeds, Robinsons and others like them may oratorically shudder at the prospect of our American boys being called to fight in foreign lands, but our American boys did fight in foreign lands, notwithstanding there was no treaty obligating them to do so. We were no party to an entangling alliance in 1917, yet we went to war. The plan advocated by the Senate's irreconcilables failed then. Why will it not fail again? How can anyone intelligently believe that, in the future, our aloofness will keep us out of war but if we join with the other nations in trying to maintain peace we are sure to be dragged into war?

The bantering address of John Sharp Williams has directed attention to a perilous condition. The Mississippi Senator, about to retire to private life, has shown how a third of the Senate's membership, plus one, can paralyze the United States in the department of foreign relations which, by reason of the World War, calls for the most enlightened statesmanship and broadest vision.

The patriotic boast of other days—more of a boast than a truth—that politics ends at the water's edge, had to do with war. Today peace pleads that politics end at the water's edge as earnestly as war ever could. The fact is undeniable that the Senate has played politics for three years with international questions—ever since Henry Cabot Lodge packed the Foreign Relations Committee for the purpose of destroying anything Wilson might do at Paris—and to that fact is largely due our industrial depression and the world's economic bewilderment.

Mr. Williams proposes as a solution an amendment to the Constitution providing that a treaty shall be ratified by a majority of the two houses of Congress in joint assembly. That would probably make the President's task easier, but the necessity of such an amendment would be an acknowledgment that the United States cannot elect a Senate two-thirds of whose members are competent to deal with world affairs.

Can constitutional amendments, or any other devices, save a country so destitute of statesmen? The question is for the Senate to ponder.

SEPARATE PEACE IN OPERATION.

It is a cruel blow which the allied Finance Ministers have dealt our State Department by ignoring its demand of priority in the payment of $241,000,000 out of reparations receipts to cover the cost of maintaining American troops in the Rhineland. The Ministers decided that the question was not for the Reparations Commission to decide because that body was acting solely under the provisions of the treaty of Versailles, to which the United States no longer was a party.

Let us hope Mr. Harding and Mr. Hughes will swiftly disavow the allied Ministers of this idea. For, was it not established before the American people that, through the clever diplomacy of the best minds, while escaping all the responsibilities of the Versailles treaty, we were to enjoy all its benefits and rights? Who has been sold on the State Department's canny, if ungalant, separate peace with Germany? The allied Ministers or the American people?

YAMMING NATURE.

It is generously admitted in a bulletin issued by the Morality Department of the National W. C. T. U. that the old-fashioned buggy possessed all the potentialities of the automobile as a moral menace. In a further burst of liberality the bulletin expresses doubt as to whether modern dance steps and other fashionable amusements are "proportionately more dangerous than the kissing games of bygone days." It might have mentioned also the old parlor sofa which encouraged proximity of persons of the opposite sex and which has existed in one form or another since antique furniture was an infant.

But why turn the accusing finger on these puny instruments of man without examining nature's own shocking enticements? Night has been, since creation, the foremost of moral menaces. Then there is the moonlight, there are the wistful lips of youth, and caressing, immoral spring. What shall it avail to abolish automobiles and buggies, sofas and dance steps when nature is the vampirish vampire of them all?

MISS ROBERTSON'S REWARD.

Miss Alice Robertson, Congresswoman from Oklahoma, is an amateur in politics. Miss Robertson, as an official, has voted and spoken according to the dictates of her convictions. Miss Robertson probably will not be re-elected.

This brief tale is not all to the bad. Other things being equal she might have had a chance of re-election. But other things are not equal. Miss Robertson rode into Congress from a normally Democratic district on the Republican tidal wave by a precarious margin of 300 votes. If Republican enthusiasm subsided in her district this year in proportion as it will have subsided over the rest of the country Miss Robertson's late majority, in the normal course of things, will be wiped out.

Nevertheless, Miss Robertson's defeat, if such it be, will be a defeat of courage, the courage of broad judgment and independent action. She has against her two class interests—that of the women voters' organization and that of the bonus proponents.

Miss Robertson dared to be the representative of both sexes in Congress, notwithstanding that she was expected to be first a woman and second a Congressman. She dared to oppose the maternity bill, not because her heart was not in the cause of motherhood but because she preferred to support motherhood without opposing principles which she regarded as fundamental to democracy. The penalty for this apostasy is loss of the support of the League of Women Voters.

The correspondent of the Post-Dispatch in Muskogee gives a brief account of Miss Robertson's ministrations to service men during the war. Her home became a haven for men in uniform and one or two chose to be wedded in her library. But she declined on principle to subscribe to the cash bonus plan, with the consequence that she has been widely denounced by veterans' organizations.

Such is the penalty meted out by organized minorities to lawmakers who, on principle, decline to do their bidding. The regret in Miss Robertson's case is that the political alignment in her district will not permit of an even fight.

IDEALISM IN AMERICA.

No people on earth think it is so surcharged with idealism as the American. It is a point of deep pride and self-satisfaction. Didn't we save Europe? And is any nation so busily occupied saving itself from all temptations that flesh is heir to? Has any people a more numerous corps of moral orators and uplifters? Yet in spite of all these clear manifestations of their eternal qualities, Bertrand Russell, the English publicist, cannot see it. In a recent contribution to The Freeman (New York) he declares he is able to discern nothing in our national life that is not founded in very practical policy or in the natural unregenerate state of the human heart. Does not prohibition show our idealism? Not at all, he says:

Apart from the interests of those who make money out of drinking and the hope of employers that their men would work harder, it must have been the case that there were more people who found pleasure in drinking than people who found pleasure in drinking themselves. No far idealism, may be discerned with prohibition. I should analyze the unconscious psychological sources, I should see that the force of it results from a conflict between the Christian duty of loving one's neighbor and the natural man's impulse to secure him. A recommendation is effected by the theory that one's neighbor is a "winner" who must be punished in order to be purified. People cling to the prohibition because otherwise there would be no moral justification for inflicting pain. Ideation in form is moral, prohibition as a pretext for torture. "Do Christians, I wonder, ever read the Gospels?"

How absurd of Mr. Russell to ask such a question of that organization of well-paid ex-preachers of the Gospels, which claims to have put prohibition over!

"SAY IT WITH FLOWERS."

COMPARATIVE SPEED IN THE SENATE.

JUST A MINUTE

Written for the POST-DISPATCH
By Clark McAdams

FRANK McGLYNN impersonates Abraham Lincoln. He does it so well that a man who knew Mr. Lincoln well said to him: "I don't know where they dug you up, but you're Lincoln." But not everybody has thought so. The actor says the critics particularly have not. It seems the chief disagreement is as to Mr. Lincoln's voice. Mr. McGlynn has had something of a confusion of testimony as to this. Some of the people who knew Mr. Lincoln think he had a high voice, while one gentleman especially qualified to say is sure that he had a somewhat high baritone voice.

Mr. McGlynn thinks we do not know what sort of voice our outstanding orators have. Mr. Lincoln was an outstanding orator. Was he? Great Caesar! We have heard people over in Illinois talk of an occasion when a great crowd stood out in the rain at Springfield to hear him, held there despite discomfort by the magic of the spoken word as Mr. Lincoln could pronounce words. Mr. McGlynn includes in reminiscences given him by newspapermen of Mr. Lincoln an occasion in Menard County, Ill., when an assemblage of thousands which had first cheered Mr. Lincoln and refused to hear him remained spellbound for two hours in the clutch of his eloquence. Mr. McGlynn is convinced by what he has heard that Mr. Lincoln spoke with great power and in no namby-pamby or lackadaisical manner. He was upon the offensive, and he held audiences at a time when men were much wilder and harder to hold than they have been since having been gentled and broken by Mr. Bryan.

Mr. McGlynn thinks there was more depth and volume to Mr. Lincoln's voice than people who heard him realized. He is quite often criticized by those who recall Mr. Lincoln as speaking in a high nasal tone. Mr. McGlynn thinks he would not have been able to hold audiences as he did had been the case. (We are not so sure. Col. Roosevelt did it. However, let us hear what Mr. McGlynn thinks.) He has observed that great orators sometimes attract attention with a high tone and then descend to a low tone, whereas in Mr. McGlynn's opinion he really had a voice of some depth and volume. It is undisputed that Mr. Lincoln could make himself heard by great numbers of people under unfavorable conditions. He was a wonder at it, as he was a wonder at capturing a jury in the case of the Illinoisan who had really had a voice of some depth and volume. TSCHAIKOWSKY'S TRIO PRESENTED AT RECITAL

Tragic Last Movement Admired in Playing of Guskoff, Stein-del and Pesetzki.

Gratitude is due Messrs. Guskoff, Stein-del and Pesetzki for their enterprising in bringing forward Tschaikowsky's only trio for violin, violoncello and piano. In the course of a concert given last night at the Odeon. The work is numbered Opus 59, and bears the dedication "To the Memory of a Great Artist." This personage was Nicholas Rubinstein, brother of Anton, and Tschai-kowsky's fellow-professor at the Conservatory of Moscow.

The trio had a rather tedious first movement (Moderato assai), but in the second, a Theme and Variations, we note again and again Tschai-kow-sky's genius for impassioned melody.
The third and greatest movement (Allegro risoluto in tragic form) proceeded worthy in tragic force of making as a miniature Adagio la-mentoso for the "Pathétique" symphony.

A funeral episode of true Russian profundity, this section is so broad and powerful in its ideas as almost to burst the narrow form of the trio; it demands an orchestra.
In the struggle to express his feelings, the composer heaped labor after labor upon the piano, until its score became a highly formidable undertaking. It ends dramatically with "drum beats" for the piano which would be most effective on the timpani.

The Solo Groups.
Each of the talented young artists had a solo group. Guskoff led off with Tchaikowsky's "Devil's Trill" sonata, in G minor. The story of its composition is well-known—how the composer dreamed that his Satanic Majesty appeared to him and played a piece of bewitching music, how he rose from bed and tried to play what he had heard, but could not; and how, several days later, with the unearthly strains still haunting him, he composed this sonata.

Guskoff performed it with a good tone and adroit facility; the terrific cadence added by Kreisler, with its double-trills, was dispatched cleverly, but with a certain scratchy effect
due to play-attack with the bow.
Guskoff's second number was Kreisler's "Liebesfreud," and his extra was Dvorak's "Slavonic Dance."

Pesetzki's section began with Godowsky's "Alt Wien," a waltz of true Vienna sparkle. The pianist found himself in Chopin's Scherzo in C-sharp minor, to which he gave much of its demonic force. Moskowski's "The Jugglers" was encouraged. Pesetzki has a nice touch and considerable speed and power; despite many nervous mannerisms, he gives an impression of feeling and magnetism.

Steindell's skill as a virtuoso of the violin is well known, and he gave a successful performance of a Fantasy, "No extra memorials," by the Belgian "cellist," Servais, as adapted by Steindell himself and by his disciple, uncle, Bruno Steindell. Popper's giddy Tarantelle No. 2 followed, and the added number was Giazdov's "Serenade Espagnole."

A critic's comment on the three performers is a lack of shading. An audience of no great size, but of cordial friendliness, was present.
Mrs. David Kriegshafer served as accompanist for several of the numbers.

'MARRIAGE HARDEST JOB,' SAYS
Y. W. C. A. WOMAN LECTURER

"Nothing More Immoral Than Marrying for Material Comforts Than Can Give," She Asserts.

Dr. Rachelle Yarros of Hull House,
Chicago, in an address on "Rational Sex Ethics," told several hundred women in the Y. W. C. A. gymnasium last night that, while women are naturally more conservative than men, they have much to learn from men when it comes to playing fair.

"There is nothing more immoral to my mind," she said, "than a woman marrying for the material comforts a man can give her. Marriage is the hardest job there is, and no woman should be so foolish as to go into it for the mere reason that she is tired of working. It is a glorious relationship when the man and woman are real companions."

The remaining lectures of Y. W.
C. A. Health week include "Relation of Exercise and Posture to Health," by C. A. Stone tomorrow night, and
"What You Should Know About Your Feet," by Dr. R. R. Hopkins, Friday night, in the Y. W. C. A. gymnasium.

TRAVEL UNDER THE BLACK-TOPPED RED FUNNEL

A Memorable Start On Your Trip
To EUROPE

Sail from Montreal on a Ship of the Canada Line's Canadian Service.

Make the St. Lawrence River the first lap on your journey abroad. Spend three days out of seven steaming down sheltered waters, bounded on right and left by the majestic scenery of the French-Canadian country.
On the Plains of Abraham, behind the fate of Canada was settled in the momentous struggle between the armies of Wolfe and Montcalm. The region today lapped in the romance of a unique people, whose life and customs are a revelation of the Europe of three centuries ago.

The five all-weather steamers of the Canada Line's Canadian Service are modern, every room, built from stem to stern with the traveler's comfort, pleasure and safety in mind. They will make the manner of your going abroad a thing you will never forget.

SENATE VOTE HELD TO INDICATE TREATY WILL BE RATIFIED

that these agreements least toward world unity.

Long's Idea of Meaning.

Arguing that the four-power treaty contains no obligation to use force, Longroot set forth at length what he considered to be the real meaning of the treaty provisions. Assuming that there could be a real case of threatened aggression within 10 years, the life of the treaty, and the party threatened communications with us fully regarding the facts, we might first suggest, or the good offices as the best means to meet the exigencies of the situation. That declined or failing we could suggest arbitration. If that is declined, we could agree that the party upon whom the aggression is made would be justified in resorting to war in defense of her rights and there our obligation would end without our becoming a party to the war. We could suggest a conference with an outside power.

"But assuming that the threatened aggression was of such a nature that we believed our own rights would later be threatened, that unless we should act forthwith with the power upon whom the aggression is made that our own existence was in danger, then under this article it would be entirely proper for the President of the United States to lay before Congress the facts concerning the aggression and the action and the provisions of article 19 of the League of Nations, there would be no moral obligation of any sort to employ our army or navy in the defense of the Power attacked."

AUTO INDUSTRY IMPROVEMENT REFLECTED IN FIRM REPORT

Business Reported 100 Per Cent Better This Season Than for Same Period in 1931.

CHICAGO, March 12.—The improvement in the automobile industry, it was declared, was reflected in the annual report of the Stewart-Warner Speedometer Corporation, made public yesterday.

For 1932, after writing down inventories about $100,000 and making surplus adjustments, the net income was $767,411, according to the report. After payment of $1,172,195 in dividends there was a deficit of $404,694, which resulted in the surplus being reduced to $7,637,125, compared with $3,947,127 at the close of 1932.

The report asserted, however, that business thus far this year is about 100 per cent above the corresponding period last year, that a normal production basis is being rapidly approached and a satisfactory profit is expected this year.

CAN'T STAND WIFE'S NEW IDEA

German Officer Obtains Divorce, Citing Wife's Political Attitude.

BERLIN, March 12.—Col. Tschirsky, formerly a Prussian officer, has obtained in Potsdam a decree of divorce on the ground that his wife, since the revolution, has developed such a republican spirit that it is impossible for an officer of high rank to live with her.

Divorces are not easily had in Germany and the decree in this case is regarded as symptomatic of a state of mind in the Potsdam community, which seems to be a law unto itself and in which it seems possible for a reactionary to get anything he may ask of the courts.

STOCK MARKET

ACTIVE REACTION IN LATE TRADING

Decision of Great Northern Railway Not to Act on Dividend Now and to Change Time for Consideration to Semi-Annually, Factor in Irregular Close.

By Leased Wire From the New York Bureau of the Post-Dispatch.

NEW YORK, March 15.—The New York Stock Exchange today was active and showed a strong reaction in the late trading. The market was characterized by a sharp decline in the price of Great Northern Railway stock, which was attributed to the decision of the company not to act on its dividend now and to change the time for consideration to semi-annually. This decision was seen as a factor in the irregular close of the market.

Yesterday's rally in foreign exchange was continued during this morning's trading. Despite the fact that prices at London were lower than at the end of the previous day, bidding on this side of the water carried the price up to $4.25. At this figure, which represented a gain of nearly 2 cents on the day and of 10 cents on the week, the market changed once more. Bids became less numerous and offerings appeared, with the result that the price slumped back to $4.22. The rally in other foreign currencies was also affected. The dollar advanced to a new record of 66 1/2 cents, but the exchange on Canada and South America was lower.

"Another reason for the strength in the foreign exchanges during recent weeks has been evident, while, by our own foreign trade statistics for February, exports are again of sharply and at $21,000,000 are quite the smallest since the armistice and, for that matter, since 1918. Imports show little change as compared with the previous month, but the excess of exports amounts to only $1,000,000. This is offset, furthermore, by an excess of gold imports amounting to $2,000,000. It may be recalled that for this same month the British foreign trade figures show Great Britain's excess imports practically to have been wiped out.

"What prices underwent another spell of weakness as the result of lower prices at Buenos Aires and Liverpool. May touched $1.29, and after recovering to $1.32 was still off 2 cents on the day. Corn also suffered, the May future losing 1/4 cent. Cotton also reacted, May being off 1/8 cent at a late price of 17 1/2 cents.

"Steel industry situation. Steel making is continuing at the better rate recently attained. The steel corporations' mills are operating at slightly less than 80 per cent of capacity while the average for the whole industry is estimated at between 75 and 80 per cent. Much interest is displayed, meanwhile, in the effects of the stiffening of prices on heavy products by the leading independents. It is still too early to arrive at a decision in the matter, but the chief result so far is to make it more certain that a frequent quotation rather than the 150 cent price which lately has been announced. A coal strike in April is, according to the Iron Age, generally expected in the trade and this journal also reports that there is more discussion this week to believe that some of the recent buying of steel was precautionary. Railroad demand for steel products is broader and export business is showing some signs of recovering from the depths of depression. Under the circumstances it is difficult to judge just what the spring trade will amount to, but the trade probably is correct in holding to a somewhat conservative view.

The investment market. NEW YORK, March 15.—Trading in bonds during the first half of today's session kept pace with the active demand for stocks. Shortening of the bond market was evident, the tendency in most quarters was upward. Foreign issues were favorably influenced by the further recovery of exchanges, although French municipalities yielded slightly with other continentals of the same description. Athenian convertible was the strongest of the rails, gaining 1/4 point. Southern Railway rose 1 point and fractional improvement was shown by Illinois Central, refunding 4 1/2, Interborough in Chicago, and Third Avenue refunding 4 1/2. Paul refunding 4 1/2, Chesapeake & Ohio convertible 4 1/2, Reading & Baltimore & Ohio convertible 4 1/2, Consolidated Gas 3 1/2, and Brooklyn Union Gas 3 1/2 were strong and declined 2 points of its recent setback. The late reaction in the stock market extended to the bond list, where many early gains were canceled, especially among leading rails and industrials.

Issue of Gold Certificates Without Demand Rescued. WASHINGTON, March 15.—Issue of gold certificates without demand, announced in 1917, was resumed today. The Treasury department has decided to issue gold certificates without demand, a measure which was rescinded in 1917. GRAIN PRICES DOWN ON LOCAL EXCHANGE

The grain market had another slump on the Merchants' Exchange today. May wheat at low point being 3 1/2c under last night and May corn more than 2 1/2c net lower. The break in the foreign market and reports of favorable character from the southwest were ascribed as factors in the domestic market.

In the cash grain market wheat dragged, but variety being fully 3c lower to sell. Hard was 1c lower. Cash oats were 1/2c higher and slow sale.

WHEAT FUTURES DECLINE ON LOWER RANGE AT LIVERPOOL

CHICAGO, March 15.—Barn broke in the price of wheat at Liverpool today led to a moderate setback in Chicago. Buying here and a fair rally ensued. It was said the weakness of the Liverpool market was due to the arrival there and to efforts of British millers to resist purchases of wheat. The opening in Chicago, which ranged from 1/2c to 3/4c lower, with May $1.14 1/2 to $1.15 1/2, and July $1.14 1/2 to $1.15 1/2, was followed by a slight further decline and then by something of a recovery.

Subsequently, demand gave out for awhile, and prices fell lower than before, but conflicting reports about Liverpool prices led to close was unsettled, 1/2c to 1 1/2c net lower, with May $1.14 1/2 to $1.15 1/2, and July $1.14 1/2 to $1.15 1/2.

Rickey Watches Every Move of Cardinal Players in Spring Practice Session in South

Manager Supervises Sliding Work and Praises Athletes for Good Plays—Lesser Lights Are Scheduled to Get Blue Slips in Short Time.

By J. Roy Stockton.

A Staff Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

ORANGE, Tex., March 15.—"If I can learn as much every day as I have learned today about what my ballplayers can and cannot do I will be willing to accept the responsibility for the holding or releasing of all of them," said Branch Rickey last night. He had just directed the first day of spring training activities since the reporting of Fournier and Hornsby made the squad complete, and he was just going into his confidential session with Assistant Manager Bert Shotton to designate the heads to be put under the ax, probably before Sunday.

Coming after a night's rain which even made the going heavy in the Cardinals' training camp, the workout was one indeed to make everybody realize that muscles long rested had been worked until they squeaked for rest. And as the rain prevented a morning workout, so wet was the field, the one session in the afternoon was all the more full of pep and spirit.

Rickey was everywhere at once, dabbling in an old yard underfoot, a pair of baseball pants of much mud and very droopy around the bottom, with legs bare, and an old ragged pair of baseball shoes. Rickey was a picture to arise would pass up. To top off the nondescript uniform he had on an old battered fedora hat, and even more dented than the one Judge Landis has cherished for so many years.

From squad to squad Rickey sped with the energy of a hundred men, sometimes in plain, sometimes in uniform, he would let the old fella, sail joyously into the air. Then when some boneheaded bouncer from the bushes would revert to type Rickey would dash to his loudest tones, dash the hat to the ground, stamp on it a few times, kick it and show the offender how it should be done, whatever it was.

Sliding Lessons for Pfeffer.

His enthusiasm was exhilarating.

Heinie Mueller Causes Rickey to Jump With Glee When He Squawks at Umpire

And Jeff ran. It sounded interesting and it proved to be. The sliding pit had been made by digging a hole three feet deep 10 feet wide and 21 feet long. The hole is filled with sand and on one end is a board take-off, such as is used for broad jump in track meets. A cinder path leads to the take-off. Out there in the sand is the base. No matter how much the sliding of the athletes were hurt by their inability to do that took slide, the sand protected them from physical injury and the sand kept them sliding until they could not draw themselves to the take-off any more.

Meantime there was batting practice. Rickey designed and had erected. Fine mesh netting, similar to tennis netting, was stretched along iron pipes to make two long alleys. The netting was of the better took care of foul and pop flies. This arrangement reduces the amount of field under bombardment by the batters, makes it easy for the ball shagger, as the poor rookie who chases fly balls is called, and thus takes away the element of danger that would exist if the batters were allowed to whack away at the leather while their comrades were running hither and yon.

All in all it is a nice arrangement.

Rickey Has Wonderful Eyes.

Rickey has wonderful eyes. In the course of a practice game between two picked teams he watched what every ball was doing on every play as it appeared to a base runner broke or second base. When the dust had cleared Rickey yelled, "That's fine, you broke the catcher's mitt. The pitcher started." That's fine, Al Smith, you did not lose a second on your throw to second. "Batter, don't get out of the catcher's hands. If you are in his way legitimately, so much the better. And, basemen, you are looking back, you are looking off first you were. Instead of watching the pitcher. With your start you ought to have started at home. I don't trust, put some pepper into your work."

"Get the ball—Mr. Rickey," yelled Heinie Mueller. "Judas Priest ain't out here. He plays in the Sunday School League."

Rickey wants his ball players to fight. Anybody who has been told to believe that Rickey is a gambler, a person who speaks with confidence and a smile and wants a ballplayer to play for a moral victory has been grossly misled with a couple of guesses.

Mueller Wants to Fight.

He never was more tickled in his life than he was yesterday afternoon when Heinie Mueller wanted to whip the opposition. Heinie was on third base with one out, and he had just hit to short right field. Heinie dashed back to third base. He thought with the quickness of one who had never been down on the bases, where the car first broke, and as the ball settled into Jack Smith's hands Heinie carried for the plate. As he started to slide 20 feet from the plate he realized it was going to be close. "No, no, no," he yelled as he was called to Eddie Alsmith. And when Umpire Ray Thomas called him out he was up in a flash and was rushing out like a bull, ready to bring instant death to the umpire.

And Rickey asked him, "Do you get me, Heinie. You were safe a minute ago. Now you're out. You don't let him get away with that. And as Heinie spluttered and heaped words on the head of the umpire, Rickey stood off and danced with glee.

A few minutes previous, as Heinie was batting, Eddie Alsmith threw some dust into the air in front of the plate. It was done to rattle the batter and Heinie got so mad that he was telling Alsmith what he thought of him. He warmed the fence with the next pitch and made three bases.

That may be going to lose a lot of

SPORTS

By L. C. Davis

A SOCIAL FUNCTION.

SOCIETY in force was at the Square.

Decked out in all its finery and ribbons.

To see a little sluff affair.

Between a certain Greb and one T. Gibbons.

The members of the so-called upper crust.

The ladies with their orchids and their roses.

Were there to see this pair of artists bust.

Each other on their celebrated noses.

That they would see a stream of claret flow.

The patrons of the party fondly trusted.

But at the termination of the show the noses of the artists were un-busted.

Which proved that Greb and Gibbons were not slackers.

And as a glad result of the affair the boys divided fifty thousand smackers.

"King of Moonshiners Wade While in Jail"—Headline. We take it that the happy couple was showered with old bootlers.

The fight promoters have no objection to limiting the number of rounds, but when it comes to limiting the price of tickets they regard it as being somewhat in the nature of a knee punch.

First thing we know they'll have champagne fighting for nearly $100,000 prices. Always somebody trying to yank the bread and ole out of the mouth of the hard-working box fighter.

When it comes to pass that we can't charge what we please for what we have to sell it's about time to take up another hole in our personal liberty belt.

Rube Ruth's contract doesn't call for any home run bonus, it seems. Ram is working on a flat rate, instead of doing piece work.

WHY NOT?

It has been proposed to pay the soldier bonus by tax on light wine and beer. Why not pay 'em with the tail feathers of the dodo bird?

Breed Winners Are Announced—Headline. The breed winners will be announced later.

See where Ollie Chill is warming up with the Indians down in Texas.

It appears that Eddie Kane's pre-war announcement that Tom Gibbons would knock out Harry Greb was somewhat exaggerated.

A number of the Browns cashed in on the last race at Mobile the other day. Looks like first division.

AS USUAL.

"Giants release hurler." Thereby reducing the squad to about 25 slackers.

Little Rock has an outfielder named "Albino" Jones and a pitcher named "Mississippi" Jones. Indicating that the Cardinals are out for the State championship.

"Crackers Look Good on Paper"—Headline. Maybe so, but rather suggestive of doves.

Tremaine Winner In 12-Round Bout With Jabez White

Cleveland Bantamweight Has Opponent in Bad Way in Second Round.

Carl Tremaine, the Cleveland bantamweight, was the aggressor in his fight with Jabez White, a contender for the title, in the second round of the fight at the Coliseum last night.

Referee Sharpe raised the Clevelanders' hand at the end of the twelfth round, and the verdict was made unanimous when the keenest ear could not detect a single dissenting voice.

Tremaine easily earned the decision as with the exception of a few isolated instances he was the aggressor and kept the atmosphere in the vicinity of White's head and midriff so full of boxing gloves that the Easterner was kept too busy watching for the next blow to attempt to land one himself.

In the second round of the engagement White came near losing his most valued possession, a reputation for never having been knocked out. Solid right and left hooks to the jaw landed with power and precision by Tremaine in this round caused the Albany biffer's knees to sag and many were rindlers to predict that it would be a short fight. But White decided to keep his reputation and surprised many by making good.

The boxing gloves were flying through the air.

Which proved that Greb and Gibbons were not slackers.

And as a glad result of the affair the boys divided fifty thousand smackers.

"King of Moonshiners Wade While in Jail"—Headline. We take it that the happy couple was showered with old bootlers.

The fight promoters have no objection to limiting the number of rounds, but when it comes to limiting the price of tickets they regard it as being somewhat in the nature of a knee punch.

First thing we know they'll have champagne fighting for nearly $100,000 prices. Always somebody trying to yank the bread and ole out of the mouth of the hard-working box fighter.

When it comes to pass that we can't charge what we please for what we have to sell it's about time to take up another hole in our personal liberty belt.

Rube Ruth's contract doesn't call for any home run bonus, it seems. Ram is working on a flat rate, instead of doing piece work.

WHY NOT?

It has been proposed to pay the soldier bonus by tax on light wine and beer. Why not pay 'em with the tail feathers of the dodo bird?

Breed Winners Are Announced—Headline. The breed winners will be announced later.

See where Ollie Chill is warming up with the Indians down in Texas.

It appears that Eddie Kane's pre-war announcement that Tom Gibbons would knock out Harry Greb was somewhat exaggerated.

AS USUAL.

This is the only season of the year when the spring of Hovov at camp puts new spirit into the boys.

"Giants release hurler." Thereby reducing the squad to about 25 slackers.

Little Rock has an outfielder named "Albino" Jones and a pitcher named "Mississippi" Jones. Indicating that the Cardinals are out for the State championship.

"Crackers Look Good on Paper"—Headline. Maybe so, but rather suggestive of doves.

ADVERTISEMENT "WHAT'S THE MATTER WITH ME?"

Thousands Who Ask That Question Will Be Interested in This Answer.

Human flesh is built to many ailments, but aside from the acute and the contagious diseases, most people become sickly from neglect. They have indigestion and do nothing for it. They get nervous and often sleep poorly and do nothing to cure themselves. From these and other causes they gradually lose strength and vitality and feel tired much of the time and often "blue" and dependent. If you feel below par take Gude's Pepsin-Mangan and let it restore your strength and vitality and overcome that weakness by building up your blood to the right richness and redness. Then you will feel fine and vigorous again, and have plenty of pep. For thirty years Gude's Pepsin-Mangan has been the doctor's favorite tonic for rundown people. Sold in both liquid and tablet form by all druggists.

ADVERTISEMENT HOME-MADE, BUT HAS NO EQUAL FOR COUGHS

Makes a family supply of really dependable cough medicine. Easily prepared, and saves about $2.

If you have a severe cough or chest cold accompanied with soreness, throat tickle, hoarseness or difficult breathing, or if your child wakes up during the night with croup and you want quick help, try this reliable old home-made cough remedy. Any drug store can supply you with 2½ ounces of Pinex. Pour this into a pint bottle and fill the bottle with plain granulated sugar syrup. Or you can use clarified molasses, honey, or corn syrup, instead of sugar syrup, if desired. This recipe makes a pint of really remarkable cough remedy. It tastes good, and in spite of its low cost, it can be depended upon to give quick and lasting relief.

You can feel this take hold of a cough in a way that means business. It loosens and raises the phlegm, stops throat tickle and soothes and heals the irritated membranes that line the throat and bronchial tubes with such promptness, ease and certainty that it is really astonishing. Pinex is a special and highly concentrated compound of genuine Norway pine extract, and is probably the best known means of overcoming severe coughs, throat and chest colds. There are many worthless imitations of this mixture. To avoid disappointment, ask for "2½ ounces of Pinex" with full directions and don't accept anything else. Guaranteed to give absolute satisfaction or money promptly refunded. The Pinex Co., Ft. Wayne, Ind.

PLAN FOR APPLYING WAGE AWARD GIVEN OUT

Publishers Outline the Method They Will Use in Employment of Pressmen.

By Leased Wire From the New York Bureau of the Post-Dispatch.
NEW YORK, March 13.—Retracting its intention "to observe without deviation" all the terms of the Manton award, and their "expectation and insistence" that the union do likewise, the Publishers' Association has presented to the committee representing Web Pressmen's Union No. 23, a statement as to the method in which it is proposed to apply the award.

Summarized briefly, the publishers declare their intention of employing none but union pressmen, so long as the same may be available, of reducing the number of men to press by one, on not spreading the number of men called over a larger number of presses than originally fixed in the daily schedule, of issuing all orders through the foreman, and of not increasing the number of apprentices abnormally at the expense of the journeymen.

The fixing of hours for work in the pressrooms is left to the several offices by the general statement. Supplementing this is a statement by the American and News, that men called to report for duty before 9:30 p. m. will be paid bonuses above the scale, ranging from $1 a night to boys to $3 a night for pressmen in charge, for all nights except Saturday and either Thursday or Friday in each week.

This is in recognition of the fact that only in these two offices is the right to work men eight hours a night, except on Saturday and perhaps one other night a week, a habitual necessity, and represents an attempt to equalize conditions. In return for this, the union is expected to agree to keep presses running during the lunch period, the men to be paid full time for this period as part of the eight-hour shift.

The question of overtime for work on Sunday nights, between 7 and midnight, is left open as being before the arbitrator. The Brooklyn papers, conditional on their men waiving the right to put on "subs" on the Saturday night run, agree to pay a bonus of $1.25 to regular pressmen who work the double shift, in addition to the award of $1.50 for the double shift. This makes the bonus only 2 cents less than under the old scale.

The publishers further propose to pay all men injured in their press rooms full compensation during good behavior, pending the working out of a plan within six months by union and association for the care of such men. Last week the union presented to the publishers the method of applying the award desired by its members. This included making any six hours between 10 at night and 5 in the morning the working time for night men, beginning the day shift any time after 8 instead of after 7 o'clock, as fixed in the award, the same number of men to be employed on presses as under the old contract, this in return for the men agreeing to operate presses continuously, regardless of lunch time; consultation with the union before the hiring of nonunion foremen; that transfers from one press to another be limited to one a day, and the restoration of the bonus paid in Brooklyn for the double shift on Saturday to the old level.

USE CONCRETE FOR PERMANENCE

Uncle Sam Puts Concrete Roads First

No one has better facilities for determining the past performance of roads of all kinds in all parts of the country than the United States Government.

The Government approves the types of construction to which it will lend its aid, and in an overwhelming majority of instances it has approved Concrete.

Cooperating with the states, the Government has approved in the past five years expenditures totaling $229,000,000 for three kinds of pavement—Concrete, brick and bituminous. Of this, $184,000,000, or more than 80 per cent, has been invested in Concrete. That represents 79.3 per cent of the mileage paved.

Any community that selects Concrete for its highways is fully sustained in its choice by the observation and experience of the Federal Government.

LARGE RENO HOTEL DESTROYED BY FIRE

Guests Escape From Upper Windows in Night Clothes—No Injuries Reported.

By the Associated Press.
RENO, Nev., March 12.—Scores of guests escaped from upper windows in their night clothes when the Riverside Hotel, the largest hotel here, was destroyed by fire early today. At 5 o'clock the building was still a furnace, and the ruins could not be searched, but a check was started to learn if any guests were missing. No serious injuries were reported. The fire, believed to have started in the engine room, started shortly after 2 o'clock. The flames spread upward quickly, and the guests, aroused by the smoke, found the stairways cut off. Most of them were rescued by firemen with ladders. The firemen prevented the flames from spreading to other buildings but could not save the hotel. Several thrilling rescues were reported, among them that of two children from a blazing room. The scantily clad guests were cared for in surrounding houses. A mild night saved them much suffering from exposure. Virtually all the guests' effects were believed to have been lost. The hotel was a three-story brick structure. It was situated by the Truckee River.

200 DISABLED SOLDIERS FIGURE IN DISTURBANCE

By the Associated Press.
NEW YORK, March 12.—A disturbance, in which more than 200 disabled former soldiers quartered in the Fox Hills (Staten Island) Hospital participated, followed the shooting last night of Bernard A. Curran, 26 years old, one of the patients, by a guard who mistook him for an intruder. Curran suffered a slight wound in the hip. Some of the attendants, hearing the shot and seeing scores of patients rushing to the scene, sent a riot call to the Stapleton, S. I., police and reserves were hurried to the hospital. The disturbance, however, had subsided when they arrived, hospital authorities said. George Schmidt, the guard, was held for investigation. Hospital officials said Curran and a companion entered the wrong gate upon returning to the hospital and refused to make their identities known to Schmidt, who placed his pistol against Curran's side and fired. Patients from all parts of the building and grounds flocked to the spot and were reported to have threatened several other guards who went to Schmidt's assistance.

Negro Is Electrocuted

By the Associated Press.
NASHVILLE, Tenn., March 12.—Maurice Mays, negro, convicted of the murder of Mrs. Bertie Lindsey of Knoxville, Tenn., was electrocuted at the Tennessee State prison here this morning. The shock of 2500 volts was sent through his body at 6:12 a. m. and at 6:16 Mays was pronounced dead. Mays maintained his innocence to the last.

KEEP LOOKING YOUNG

It's Easy—If You Know Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets

The secret of keeping young is to feel young—to do this you must watch your liver and bowels—there's no need of having a sallow complexion—dark rings under your eyes—pimples—a bilious look in your face—dull eyes with no sparkle. Your doctor will tell you ninety per cent of all sickness comes from inactive bowels and liver. Dr. Edwards, a well-known physician in Ohio, perfected a vegetable compound mixed with olive oil to act on the liver and bowels, which he gave to his patients for years. Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets, the substitute for calomel, are gentle in their action yet always effective. They bring about that natural buoyancy which all should enjoy by tuning up the liver and clearing the system of impurities. Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets are known by their olive color. 15c & 30c.

NOLTE FAVORS STEIFEL FARM FOR GIRLS' INDUSTRIAL HOME

Can Be Bought for $25,000

Comptroller Nolte said today that he favored the purchase of the Steifel farm, near Valley Park, in preference to the Reel farm, now being considered for the Girls Industrial Home, for which there is a $25,000 appropriation.

His statement followed a visit to the Steifel farm yesterday with Director of Public Welfare, C. H. Alderman, and Mrs. John S. Payne and Mrs. G. V. R. Mehlman, members of the Board of Children's Guardians.

Nolte said that the Steifel farm of 150 acres could be purchased for the same price as the Reel farm of 115 acres, and that the Steifel farm was much the better because of the character of its buildings and land. He still is inclined to believe that both are too large, but that if the Alderman committee out the apparent intention to buy a farm of that size, he will consider the Steifel farm but continue to oppose the Reel farm.

The Steifel farm now is owned by Herman Steifel, clerk of the court for Criminal Causes, and Republican committeeman from the Twenty-first Ward. It was offered to the city some time ago as a site for the home for feeble-minded at $40,000.

DIVORCED TO PREVENT BIRTH OF DEFECTIVE CHILDREN

Man and Wife Both Pronounced of Low Mentality in Domestic Relations Court

A divorce designed to prevent the birth of children likely to be mentally defective was granted yesterday by Judge Callahan in the Court of Domestic Relations.

The Judge pronounced both the man and his wife of low mentality. In addition, the husband is crippled and is totally deaf. The couple have three children, all boys. One is insane and the two others are feeble-minded.

There are four interests to be considered in this case. The Judge declared, "the husband, the wife, the children and the public. Certainly the interest of the latter two demand that this marriage be dissolved. If it is not broken, it is a menace to the public. The Judge committed the two feeble-minded children to the Board of Children's Guardians with the instruction that the father contribute $40 a month to their support. The third child was committed to the city sanitarium and the father ordered to pay $20 a month for its care. The husband brought the divorce action on an erratic action of his wife who contested charging insanity.

TAFT OPPOSES SCHOOL SPORTS IN FORM OF BIG EXHIBITIONS

Chief Justice Tells Yale Alumni They Must Abandon Intellectual Life of Colleges

WASHINGTON, March 15.—Chief Justice Taft, speaking at a meeting here last night of the Yale Alumni Association, said he believed the growth of big collegiate athletic exhibitions was militating against the intellectual life of the institutions and should be curtailed.

Athletic contests in the form of great public exhibitions, he said, were not helping the educational purposes for which the institutions were founded.

"These games for the entertainment and edification of the people are not really for the good of the universities," the Chief Justice said. "I would be glad to see a stop put to them and to see the intellectual institutions leading to that end."

News of the Business World

By Wire to the Post-Dispatch

March 15.

NEW ORLEANS, La.—Preparations for spring planting are well under way in every part of this section. This is creating a better feeling in business circles and the rising trend of prices for agricultural products is encouraging the farmers. Planting of sugar cane is nearly completed. The acreage will be the largest ever cultivated in this State and the amount of land devoted to the growing of vegetables also will exceed all previous records. Rice planting is progressing nicely, but the cotton growers are being delayed by wet weather.

The increased activity is being reflected in increased sales by jobbers who have been helped by the presence here of a buyers' convention. Retail trade, however, is falling off slightly, with sales running 10 to 20 per cent below those of a year ago. This is due to the between-seasons period, it is asserted. Commerce here has been marked by increases in the import and export trade of this port and by a rising interest in real estate transactions. Business among the automobile dealers has shown a considerable upturn recently. Sales of new cars are running about 10 per cent above those for the same time last year, while business in medium and low-priced cars is 25 per cent heavier.

CHICAGO VIEW OPTIMISTIC.

CHICAGO, Ill.—Business continues on the way toward general prosperity although at slightly reduced speed. Jobbers predict a steady movement toward the close of the week, with the income tax payments temporarily out of the way. Retailers in the country districts complain that the farmer is not turning loose his money very freely in spite of the higher prices he has been getting for his products. This is a complaint which is not new. It is not because the farmer suddenly has become a tightwad. He has had his income tax to pay and has been buying increased acreage, paying down all he could in cash. So the merchant must wait for his money a while longer and if he replenishes depleted stocks it must be on credit.

Jobbers here are confident, however, that this situation will pass and that it is a Chicago matter rather than a trend of business.

Each week is bringing an increase in dry goods orders from salesmen in the roof and collections are improving. The meat trade continues to show a lack of force and demand. Bank deposits here show a gain of $34,271,000 over Dec. 31, due to liquidation of debts and the making of money rates. National banks report a gain of about $20,000,000 in deposits. The State banks have experienced a gain in these items of $3,000,000. This is taken to mark a gradual expansion of business and a demand for more building.

BUILDING LOOKS UP.

PHILADELPHIA, Pa.—One of the most favorable business developments in this district is the hatching out of building construction plans which have been in the incubator since the New Year. Work on this week on the $3,000,000 building for the Curtis Publishing Co. and permits were obtained for five other office buildings. Permits for the erection of dwellings for the first time in a half month of this year are 10 per cent in excess of the total number issued in 1920. Their estimated cost exceeds $4,000,000. The Board of Education has a $25,000,000 building program. One of the new features of dwellings has been the addition of radio sending and receiving stations. Men in the building trades will be employed well into the fall and millions of dollars' worth of material will be required to fill the building needs here.

Shoe retailers have been placing heavy orders for the Eastern trade. A big demand for shoe repair work and the inauguration of shoe repair shops has opened a good market for leather supply houses.

The Perodot Works of the American Bridge Co. are working at 65 per cent capacity.

BUSINESS TOPICS.

DETROIT, Mich.—Pere Marquette freight traffic department reports an increase of 25 per cent in tonnage compared with this time in 1921. Increase in volume of all commodities are reported. Large quantities of salt are being moved from Michigan points, such as Ludington and Manistee, to the East. Mild weather is moving part of the heavy hold, over potato crop. The 10 per cent increase in the motor car industry noted last month, gives promise of being even greater in March.

PUEBLO, Colo.—Plans are being made. It is understood, here to increase the mine production at properties in Colorado of the Colorado Fuel and Iron Co. The workmen's dwellings destroyed by the Pueblo flood have been replaced by new buildings set up by the company.

DURING 1921, THE POST-DISPATCH printed 15,608 FOR SALE "WANTS"—35,341 more than the THREE other St. Louis newspapers combined.

LEATHER.—BOSTON.—The leather market continues spotty. A few lines show activity while others are dull. Patent leather is in vogue for spring wear and there is a good demand for this product.

COTTON.—PORT WORTH, Tex.—Reports from the cotton districts indicate that these Texas cotton planters who carried his acreage 40 per cent last year will increase it somewhat this season.

CANNED GOODS.—SAN FRANCISCO, Cal.—With the rapid decrease in the stocks of canned fruit the importation will be a regular feature. Some varieties are actually out of the hands of jobbers with no important supplies.

CEMENT.—ALLENTOWN, Pa.—The City Council has taken a decision to build a bridge across the Schuylkill river at Grand and Cane avenues. Witnesses at the Council's meeting testified that Gross, driving south on Grand avenue, turned east into Cane avenue, and was struck by a car. The car was driven by a woman named Gross. The car was a 1920 Ford. The car was driven by a woman named Gross. The car was a 1920 Ford. The car was driven by a woman named Gross.

SHOES.—ST. PAUL, Minn.—Two city shoe manufacturers predict an early return to capacity production in their plants. They base this on the rapidly increasing number of orders coming in.

GROGGERIES.—SEATTLE, Wash.—Wholesale grocers in this district report business none too good. The country trade is quiet, retail grocers apparently waiting for further price concessions.

ELECTRICAL EQUIPMENT.—EASTON, Pa.—The Pennsylvania Edison Co. has begun work on the replacement of its plant here. The work will cost in the neighborhood of $100,000.

LUMBER.—ST. PAUL, Minn.—Northwest lumber dealers on a trip through the West and Southwest have placed more than $200,000 worth of orders for coal and coke.

COAL AND COKE.—LOUISVILLE, Pa.—The coke market is exhibiting a stronger tone. This is due to the large tonnage of coal being shipped in its natural state instead of being converted into coke.

DULUTH, Minn.—There is an ample supply of coal to last the North-west for 30 days. There is a big shortage of coal at the head of the lake and the roads are said to have but 2,000,000 tons as a special reserve.

HARDWARE.—ST. PAUL, Minn.—Hardware dealers declare their present business is equal in volume to that of a year ago, but that it is only 40 per cent on the dollar value. Hardware manufacturers predict an early return to capacity production.

STEEL.—PITTSBURGH, Pa.—The most important factor in the iron and steel business is the increased tendency to buy for future delivery. For a long time business has been on a cash to month basis, but now buyers are showing a disposition to cover future demands.

ALMONDS.—SAN FRANCISCO.—Cold rains, snow and frost has done some damage to the almond crop. The growers are forming an association and are signing five-year contracts in order to give a basis for financing.

ST. LOUIS, Mo.—Plans are being made. It is understood, here to increase the mine production at properties in Colorado of the Colorado Fuel and Iron Co. The workmen's dwellings destroyed by the Pueblo flood have been replaced by new buildings set up by the company.

ORGANIZATION OF BOYS TO BUY WIRELESS TELEPHONE SET

Instrument to Be Installed at St. George's Church to Broadcast

Construction of a wireless telephone set for broadcasting sermons is the aim of a club of high school boys being organized at St. George's Church, Pendleton avenue and Olive street. As soon as the club is fully organized it will begin the purchase or construction of the set, piece by piece, as funds can be obtained. The cost of the complete set, which will be large enough to send to all points within the city, will be about $200, according to the estimates of Edna Smith, 17 of 218 North National avenue, organizer of the club. This money will be raised chiefly through dues and benefit entertainments, with the help of possible donations. Although the actual organization of the club has not begun, it is expected to have 25 or 30 members. Smith said. Membership in St. George's Church is not necessary for membership in the club.

MANSLAUGHTER IS CHARGED

An indictment charging manslaughter was voted yesterday by the grand jury against Louis Gross, a former 2187 Carr street, whose automobile struck and fatally injured Mrs. Christine Sutter, 64 years old, of 2309 S. 10th street, Feb. 20, at Grand and Cane avenues.

Vesper, president Vesper-Buick Automobile Company and president Chamber of Commerce; L. L. Leonard, president American Storage and Moving Company, and E. R. Roeder of Roeder & Schanuel, advertising counselors. Over a thousand different slogans were submitted.

We feel that in the slogan adopted the spirit of the Leonori organization is happily and briefly summarized. All the unusual cares, responsibilities and worries of moving day surely disappear when Leonori is called upon to do the moving.

We congratulate Mr. Coughlin and Mrs. Hauser and thank all the other many contestants, regretting only that we can't give a prize to each and every one for their very excellent contributions.

Farmer Brown's Boy Surprises the Thief

Against a mystery just pit
A little common sense and wit.

—Farmer Brown's Boy.

FARMER BROWN'S BOY is not one to give up easily. He made up his mind he was going to get the thief who had been in the house and had taken the spoons and knives and miter and buckle from him. All day, as he tramped among the sugar maples coloring the sap, he kept thinking and thinking about the mysterious disappearance of those spoons. And as he thought it over to him that everything that had been taken, excepting his miter, had been bright and shiny. It was his idea.

"I know what I'll do tonight," Farmer Brown's Boy told himself. "I'll leave it lying on the table."

light near his head. Then he pointed it toward the shelf where he had left the spoon and pressed the button. There on the shelf was a little stranger. He wore a brown coat and white waistcoat. He had a hairy tail and his hands and feet were white. His big black eyes shone in the light with surprise and fear. In his mouth was the spoon. Farmer Brown's Boy knew then he had found the thief.

At the first move Farmer Brown's Boy made that spoon was dropped. There was a swift patter of little feet and the thief had disappeared. Farmer Brown's Boy got up and lighted a lantern, but though he looked everywhere he could see nothing of his recent visitor. He had been a stranger to Farmer Brown's Boy, but one look at him had been enough to make sure that he belonged to the Rat family and Farmer Brown's Boy guessed who he was.

"That must have been Trader the Wood Rat!" exclaimed Farmer Brown's Boy. "I've never seen him before, but I've read about him. This explains the mystery of the disappearance of my strings and of the chips and pebbles that I found. Trader isn't a real thief. He likes to trade. For everything he takes away he brings something. I suppose he thinks that I had just as soon have those pebbles and chips and hemlock cones as the things he has taken. I wonder where his home is? I guess if I find that I will get back all the things I've lost. My, but he was surprised when I flashed that light in his face. He has made me a lot of worry, but it is worth it and more to get acquainted with him. Tomorrow we'll have a hunt for Trader's home. Probably it is down under the floor. The little scamp! The clever little rascal!"

Then Farmer Brown's Boy untied the spoon and put it with the other spoons in a pail with a cover on it. After that he once more rolled up in his blankets and in no time at all was sound asleep.

The Heart of a Girl

A Story of Romance and a Business Career in St. Louis

By Caroline Crawford

CHAPTER 87.
PEGGY ANALYZES HER HEART.
NOW that Billy had gone back to Chicago a deep sense of loneliness came over Peggy. Their stroll in Forest Park and their hour's chat at tea just before Billy left town meant more to her than she realized. Had she missed Harrison Townley this way? He had been in Europe almost six weeks and yet how many times did she think of him? If it were not for his letters or his presents which found their way to her home once every week how much thought would she devote to him?

As Peggy traveled down to business that morning she tried to analyze her true feelings for Billy Bracton and Harrison Townley. She knew quite well that Jack Reed and Percy Peterson were just passing acquaintances. When Jack boasted that he would win her despite all her suitors she smiled faintly because she felt that it was a choice between the well-to-do bachelor whom her parents desired her to marry and Billy, her own age and school chum.

Into every business girl's life there comes a feeling of "Must" this go on forever? No matter how ambitious that girl may be, no matter what plans she has laid for the future, she sometimes wonders if a desk and chair are all there is in it for her.

Peggy had reached this stage now. She had never been especially ambitious to shine as an expert typist or to be known as a clever business woman, but of course any girl who handles a weekly pay envelope does feel a certain amount of independence. When a girl has been in business for six months or a year she feels that marriage to her must be a matter of love rather than gaining the not-especially-to-be-envied title of "Mrs."

But the business girl is just as anxious to marry and turn flapjacks and make maple-walnut layer cake as the girl who lets dad support her. Some of these girls still cling to their desks and help-hubby rent an apartment and furnish it in "a way we never could have afforded if I had not held on to my envelope." But Peggy did not intend to join this latter group. Marriage to her meant a boudoir cap, a percolator, a vacuum cleaner and all the tools to keep house.

Realizing that she was eternally feminine despite her girly disposition and seemingly flippant spirit, Peggy wondered which man would be the better choice for her. Which man would she make most happy? Townley would "try" to understand her, but Billy would succeed. Would it be better to marry Townley and live up to his ideals of her or would it be better to marry Billy and be her natural self?

Sometimes when a girl lives up to the ideals of the man she loves, both have been known to live in a fairy-land. Peter Pan sort of world. Their married life becomes a setting, a stage existence, where they play the role of husband and wife. But Peggy shrugged her shoulders at this, for, after all, she wanted to live and to be real.

If she married Billy Bracton they would quarrel and patch things up; they would be an ordinary, everyday little couple who knew the same things and thought the same thoughts. They would bore each other and plan to take separate vacations, but when they were apart they would be restless and wondering what on earth the other was doing.

There was a bond between them—it was the bond of companionship, of having seen life through the same eyes, and though their human, stubborn, surly characteristics would ap-

The Thief of Time

By Sophie Irene Loeb

He steals your golden moments
And leaves you nothing in return—
The Thief of Time.

He finds his way into your heart when you are weary,
And talks twaddle that leaves you more disheartened.
In the beehive of life,

Where humans are busy,
Doing the work of the world,
He is found.

He never works his way, but worms it,
And halts the wheels of progress.

His ways are devious, his tongue is silvery
And his mouthings are full of flattery.
His voice is like a song

That makes you pause and listen,
A song that never satisfies.

Because it is born of illusion,
And its strains die

Ere he is gone.

Always he seeks something—something to sap your strength.

He has nothing to do, and seeks you to do it with him.

Ever he reasons that the world owes him a living.

And you are the world, so he collects from you.

He is the King of Philanderers,

Because he never works for that which he wants

But takes—in one way or another—
That which belongs to someone else.

He is the drone of the everyday;

He comes or goes without your will,

And you wonder at his daring.

In various forms he is seen—
For he is your idle friend, or needy one,

Or your borrowing one;

Your never-paying neighbor, or the everlasting seeker of favors.

And the cure of him is yours—
In absent treatment.

pear at times, she loved Billy as she knew she would never love another.

With this thought uppermost in her mind, Peggy entered the office, determined to give up all interest in any one else. But upon her desk she found a note from the boss which drove all sentiment from her heart.

Next—The Boss.

Miss Lorraine Landsby of Centennial, Wyo., a former student at the University of Wyoming, recently entered upon her duties as observer upon the Medicine Bow peak, the highest point occupied by a woman as lookout in the Medicine Bow national forest, if not in the Rocky Mountains.

Woolens stay soft and fleecy washed this way, says Carter, maker of knit underwear

THE WILLIAM CARTER COMPANY
Carter's KNIT Underwear

Lever Bros. Co.,
Cambridge, Mass.

Gentlemen:

We took several infants' shirts and had them washed in Lux the average number of times a shirt is washed before the baby outgrows it. At the end of these washings the shirts were soft and fleecy and as unshrunk as if washed in water alone.

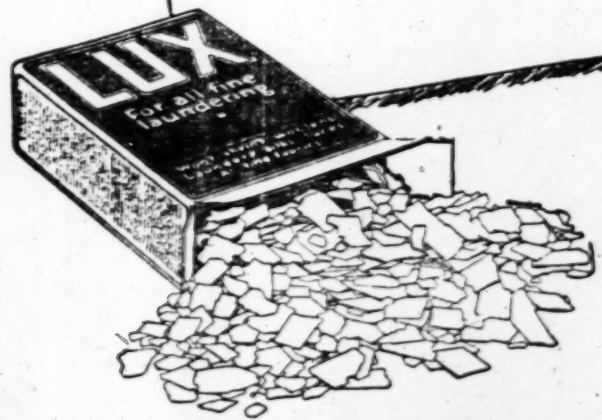

These tests prove to our entire satisfaction that a mother cannot do better than to wash her baby woolens in Lux.

The success with Lux is due not merely to its flake form, which makes all rubbing unnecessary, but to the fact that its lather is exceptionally mild and cleansing. A soap or soap flake at all harsh "felts" or shrinks wool.

We are willing to say, without qualification, that Lux will not shrink or injure woolens and we heartily recommend it for laundering them.

Very truly yours,

MY FAVORITE STORIES

By IRVIN S. COBB

(One of a series of short funny stories by the celebrated American humorist which appear daily in the Post-Dispatch on this page.)

AN ECHO FROM 1865.

I RATHER guess they have been telling this one ever since the war between the states. Indeed, for all I know to the contrary, it may date back as far as the first and second Punic wars. For a good story never really dies. It merely goes into retirement for a season or a decade or a century and rises up again when occasion suits with its youth miraculously restored.

Now, this present story may be of any age you please, but to the best of my personal knowledge and belief it belongs to our own Civil War period.

I know I first heard it years ago from an old gentleman who had served in a Texas regiment from '61 to '65. I had almost forgotten it when here the other day a friend who had been reading this series wrote me telling the same yarn and saying that he had it from his father.

The narrative runs that in the last days of the war a ragged, worn-out, hungry, half-crippled, half-dead Confederate straggler was limping along a Virginia highway striving to catch up with his command. Where there was a puddle in the ruts he stopped to bathe his bruised and bleeding feet. As he sat at the roadside dabbling his swollen toes in the water a Union skirmisher, well fed and luscious, stepped from behind a tree with his musket raised to his shoulder and yelled out, exultantly: "Now I got you!"

"Yes," drawled the Southerner, "and a hell of a git you got!"

METROPOLITAN MOVIES :: By GENE CARR

"Silk stockin's! Silk stockin's! Have I silk stockin's? Has your father?"

MORE TRUTH THAN POETRY

By James J. Montague.

A FEW WORDS OF COMFORT.

They are getting uneasy in France,
Where the jazz holds its hideous sway,
Lest the horrid American dance
Should sweep all their morals away.
They fear that their youth will succumb to the craze,
That an orgy of wild syncopeation
Will get them all going, till one of these days
It will utterly ruin the nation.

We beg them to still their alarm;
We have had the same stuff over here
And it never did half of the harm
Our moralists led us to fear.
We waited and trembled, while saxophones wailed,
And drums rolled, with throbbing insistence,
For the country to crumble, with terror we paled—
And yet we are still in existence.

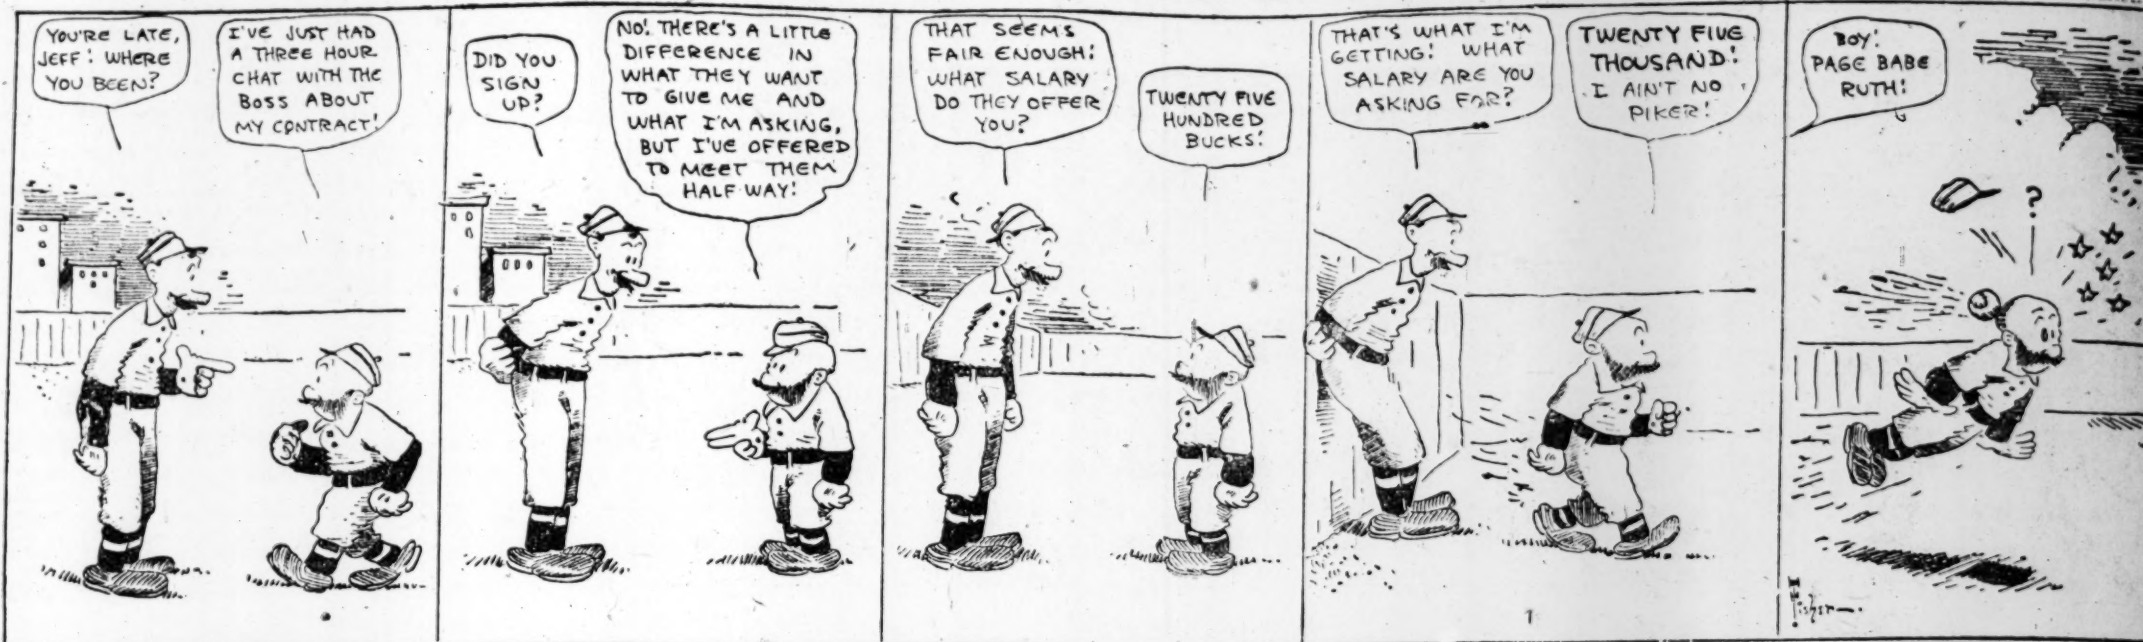

While Berlin was doing his worst
With brazen-tongued voices of sound
Our shuddering cardrums to burst
And to scatter our fragments around.
We still went and came at our regular jobs,
Untroubled and gay and light-hearted,
And we're wholly unharmed, now the thundering throbs
Of the banjos and drums have departed.

"Cheer up" is our message to France.
"Don't be so downhearted," say we,
For there isn't a ghost of a chance
That the jazz will destroy your esprit.
The jazz will depart, as it did over here,
You'll find it deceptive and hollow:
It will run at the most but a fleeting career
— And a worse one is certain to follow!
